

K, Ike Agree Not to Go to War

Most See Summit Meet Before Christmas

World Hails Big Two 'Peace Pact'

LONDON (AP) — With an air of relief, Europe hailed the outcome of President Eisenhower's talks with Nikita Khrushchev as "successful" today. There were general expectations there will be a summit meeting before Christmas. (See stories on Page 3.)

Statemen and newspapers detected historic significance in the Camp David declaration by the American and Soviet leaders that:

"... All outstanding international questions should be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means through negotiation."

To diplomats, that looked like a definite agreement by the mightiest powers in the world not to go to war with each other in this H-bomb age.

Even before reading a detailed account of the top-level American-Soviet exchanges, Prime Minister Macmillan jumped in to claim them as successful. Locked in an electoral battle for power, Macmillan also claimed personal credit for blazing the trail toward East-West understandings. He told a political rally in London:

"Do you think Mr. Khrushchev and President Eisenhower would have been promoting and discussing together at Camp David last week if I had not decided to break the ice and go to Moscow?" Macmillan's challenger for power, Labor party chief Hugh Gaitskell, also hailed the Camp David exchanges—for achieving "a better atmosphere."

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told his West German political supporters he warmly welcomes the position Eisenhower took in talking

West Must Remain Strong Until Peace Plan 'Foolproof'

Fat, Chunky and Short? You'll Get Married

LONDON (UPI)—To girls who want to get married: You've got a better chance if you are fat, fairly muscular and somewhat on the short side. Dr. R. W. Parnell, an Oxford University researcher, said a girl with those qualifications has a 3 to 2 chance of getting married over a girl of the lean, willowy or beanpole type.

SEOUL (UPI) — U.S. defense secretary Neil H. McElroy said yesterday the West must maintain its armed strength until formal agreements produce foolproof methods of ending world tensions.

McElroy said on his arrival in Seoul on a Pacific tour that he saw nothing realistic in Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Sept. 18 proposal for total disarmament. "Whether it is a bold move or not depends on Khrushchev's and the Russian people's willingness to accept a system of inspection," he said.

Tory Odds Two to Five

LONDON (Reuters)—British bookmakers Monday continued to lay odds of 2 to 5 on the Conservatives in the Oct. 8 general election. They were quoting 7 to 4 on the Labor party.

Mud-Colored Houses Greet Early Risers

HIGH RIVER, Alta. (CP)—Residents reported yesterday about 10 per cent of the houses in this community 40 miles south of Calgary were turned mud-colored overnight.

Billions Spent On Fags

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government predicted Monday that Americans would smoke a record 465,900,000 cigarettes this year despite charges linking tobacco use to cancer. It said smokers would spend six billion dollars on cigarettes.

Girdles Earth

Third Belt Of Radiation Discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. paddle wheel satellite has found a third, and previously undetected, band of intense and deadly radiation around the earth. It could mean added danger for the first man into space.

The discovery of this new 310-mile-wide radiation band, starting about 1,000 miles from earth, was announced Monday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

At a press conference, scientists also disclosed that a two-pound camera-type device aboard the satellite had taken the first crude picture of the earth and its cloud cover from a point 19,500 miles out in space.

Thousands View Body

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Mourners formed a line six abreast and about 10 miles long yesterday to view the body of assassinated Prime Minister Solomon W. R. D. Bandaranaike lying in state at Parliament Hall.

Police said 150 persons a minute filed past the bier. Some waited in line seven hours under a scorching sun for a chance to pay last respects to Bandaranaike, who will be buried Thursday.

Buddhist monks received police protection as they lined up near the steps of Parliament to file past the body.

Arrow points direction being taken by Hurricane Grace, shaded area indicates huge danger area where warnings have been issued.

Fleeing Only Chance

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Gales, high tides and crashing waves ahead of the 125-mile-per-hour peak winds of Hurricane Grace began battering the Georgia-South Carolina coast last night.

Officials, fearing a disastrous blow, rushed to complete evacuations by midnight in the Savannah to Charleston, S.C., area, the most likely target for the centre of the "extremely dangerous" storm.

The fury of the hurricane, packed in its shoreward north-west quadrant, was expected to strike inland by morning. The "eye" attended by maximum winds was less than 195 miles southeast of Charleston.

EVACUATION APPEAL

South Carolina's civil defence director Charles Culbertson appealed to residents of Charleston area beaches to evacuate.

"Complete evacuation is the only chance for survival," he said.

A 250-mile stretch of the low Carolinas and Georgia coast was threatened and under emergency hurricane warning, issued at 3 p.m. EDT. But despite the warnings, many residents refused to leave.

JUST WON'T LEAVE

At Savannah Beach, Ga., which felt 40-m.p.h. winds by early evening, Police Chief David McCutchen said "some of the old-timers just won't leave" and that he would stay too.

"It gives me an uneasy feeling, but as long as they stay I have to. They feel that everything they have is here, and if they lose their possessions, they may as well go too," McCutchen said.

Ike Moves In To End Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower, "sick and tired" of dragging negotiations in the 76-day-old steel strike, yesterday summoned industry and union leaders to the White House in an effort to end "this intolerable situation."

Eisenhower personally telephoned an invitation to the opposing leaders to meet with him separately Wednesday morning. It was a sharp turnabout in Eisenhower's previous hands-off policy toward the record walkout.

The president's decision apparently was a last-ditch effort to avoid invoking the Taft-Hartley law under which the government could seek a court order ending the strike for 80 days. After that period, the union would be free to strike again.

The White House said Eisenhower would "urge both sides to resume free collective bargaining with a view to settlement of the dispute in the interests of the nation."

Sixty Million Dollars

NEW YORK (UPI)—Howard Gould, son of the financier, Jay Gould, left an estate valued at $60,000,000 when he died last Sept. 13 in a hospital.

Gould, who was 88, left $6,000,000 in cash and blocks of stock in some of the nation's top corporations including a $35,000,000 stake in U.S. Steel.

Most of the estate will go to relatives.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

A few weeks ago I wrote in a column, "Mysteries aren't really Books with a capital B, are they?"

Of course I meant that ironically. I've been reading mysteries for some 30 years and certainly do believe they are Books with a capital B.

And then I got a letter from a reader taking me to task for my innocent little remark, defending mysteries with fervor, and explaining to me patiently that some mysteries are better than a good many straight novels.

Dear Miss L., I agree with you 1,000 per cent. I think mystery writers are now the leading providers of good, professional fiction and most of the "serious" novelists are simply not in the same league.

He Wrote for Cash

When novels began to be written a few hundred years ago, they were written to tell a story (or a string of stories) for people's entertainment. Robinson Crusoe was written like that, and Gulliver's Travels, and Don Quixote, and Pride and Prejudice. Dickens wrote his books as shilling serials against a monthly deadline. Tolstoy wrote with a watch on his desk, furnishing his readers exactly 1,000 words of entertainment an hour. Arnold Bennett proudly confessed he wrote strictly for cash.

Then something happened. Novelists got uppity. Zola defined the novel as "a mirror on a highway." Then came Proust and Joyce and Kafka and D. H. Lawrence and Thomas Mann and Aldous Huxley and the novel became a sort of prose basket containing the author's ideas on art, politics, philosophy, psychology and whatnot. Somewhere in between, if the reader looked hard, he could find some sort of plot. Or, as often as not, he could not.

Storyless Short Story

After the plotless novel came Ibsen and the stagnant play. After the stagnant play came Chekhov and the storyless short story.

And so now there are two kinds of literature around: the "serious" kind that gets the awards and the critical reviews and the honors in the anthologies — and the other kind that gets read.

As for me, I like a story. I like to be curious about what's going to happen next. I like a plot that keeps me guessing — and if it keeps me guessing wrong, so much the better.

When I read fiction, I don't look for new revelations about the ultimate reality of things. And anyway I'd expect such revelations to come from the laboratories of nuclear physicists rather than from the desks of writers.

I'm tired of the Faulkners and Hemingways. I prefer Rex Stout.

Victoria Logger Among Missing

Private craft, an RCMP patrol boat and an RCAF aircraft continued a "futile search" yesterday for a young Victoria logger, Melnor Greenlaw McCulloch, 24, who is believed drowned near Loughborough Inlet.

He was reported missing early Saturday after he failed to reach Lemon Point after leaving Sidney Bay north of Campbell River in a 14-foot outboard boat.

His brother-in-law, Robert Watson, 1008 Collinson, a fellow logger now in the navy, said: "The country is very rugged and I think if he was still alive he would have been picked up."

McCulloch's mother, Mrs. M. E. Karlsson, and sister, Mrs. Robert Watson, also live on Collinson.

Bits of debris and a gas tank were found Sunday in Blind Channel by search officials near McCulloch's destination.

A fellow friend in the area said the young man carried two heavy drills and other equipment in his light fiberglass boat.

McCulloch worked as a logger at the Blind Channel camp, which he partly owned. RCMP were also continuing their search last night for Ralph Roberts, a father of six, who left Stevenson early Saturday for Campbell River in his 30-foot gillnetter.

Fellow fishermen told air-sea rescue officials "that the weather was too rough and we turned back."

Roberts apparently continued on. Two other fishermen, identified as Walter Plattocka and Donald Frenschke, both of Stevenson were rescued near Peller Pass early Sunday when their craft foundered and sank.

Three Seattle fishermen, Darwin Hoel, Harold E. Hansen and Alfred Horn, were rescued, but two are still missing following a collision Sunday at the fog-bound entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait.

Harold Toft and Per B. Jorgenson were still missing late last night after the crash between the 439-foot freighter Mormacpine and the fishing boat Jane.

Water Skiers Carry Chest Message

Decked out in skin-diving suits in case of accident, four city water-skiers left the Inner Harbor Sunday bearing a special Community Chest message for the people of Port Angeles. Crossing was made without incident, and a similar contingent brought a message to Victoria from Port Angeles during an afternoon's Chest festivities. — (William A. Boucher photo.)

Chest Campaign Off to Fast Start

Twelve Lights to Go

One bulb lit and 12 to go.

That's the score so far in the 1959 Community Chest campaign, and officials are confident that by the end of the week at least one more bulb will be lit on the giant Red Feather at the corner of Yates and Douglas.

Each of the 13 bulbs represents $25,000 collected. The first one was turned on yesterday, and the current total figure is $34,800.

INTERESTING TOTAL

"I'm confident we're going to go over the top," campaign manager Eric Mallett said yesterday. "We're off to the best start ever, the co-operation has been terrific everywhere, and we hope to have an interesting total figure to present Friday."

Mr. Mallett was especially pleased with the returns of the professional division, which takes in the city's professional men, and the special advance gifts division. This latter group is made up of individuals who normally donate more than $100 each.

INDIVIDUAL LETTERS

"Individual letters were sent out to these people," Mr. Mallett explained, yesterday. "We've had a 50 per cent return of those letters already, and of those, 80 per cent have contributed the amount we asked for. It's extremely gratifying."

At the moment, the campaign is concentrated on the Greater Victoria business and industrial firms. Object is to get a day's pay from each individual in the business.

The residential canvass, from which must come the bulk of the funds, is scheduled Oct. 14 to 17.

MOVIE PREMIERE

It was a busy weekend for Chest workers and for Linda Anderson, Miss Community Chest. Miss Anderson attended a water "skiathon" Sunday afternoon at the Inner Harbor, officiated at a movie premiere Sunday night, and spoke to 700 sailors at HMCS Naden yesterday morning.

More than 1,400 volunteer workers, largest ever for a Chest rally, turned out to the Odeon Theatre for the premiere of the film "The 39 Steps."

All expenses were paid by The Odeon Theatre and the J. Arthur Rank Organization. On the stage with Miss Anderson were 22 members of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team, each representing a Chest charity, and various Chest officials.

Highlight of the weekend ceremonies was the "skiathon." Four Victoria skiers crossed Juan de Fuca Strait bearing a Chest torch lit by Miss Anderson and a special Chest message. A similar group arrived at the Inner Harbor from Port Angeles about an hour later.

In the interim, 17 skin divers put on a demonstration scavenger hunt on the harbor floor.

Mayor Percy B. Scurreh, Chest officials, and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Drum Corps also took part in the ceremonies.

Not Cause, Says Strauss

Rearmed Germany 'Result of Tension'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Franz Strauss, West German defence minister, said Monday he does not believe President Eisenhower and Premier Khrushchev have decided on any possible terms to settle the Berlin question.

Dr. Strauss was commenting on reports from Washington saying that the United States president considered the threat to Berlin no longer exists.

Stage Star Charged In Car Death

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI) — British actor Michael Evans will face a charge of careless driving here, October 8, in connection with a two-car collision which took the life of an 80-year-old woman.

Evans, starring as Professor Higgins in "My Fair Lady" on a North American tour, and two companions were injured when the actor's sports car collided with a car in which Mrs. Susannah MacLaurin was a passenger. She died in hospital shortly after the accident last Thursday.

An inquest held Friday ruled that Evans' sports car was travelling "at excessive speed" at the time of the crash. Later Evans appeared in court and pleaded not guilty to the charge. He was not detained. The actor said Saturday he plans to return to Calgary to face the charge.

Future 'Good' Survey Says

LONDON (CP)—The Organization for European Economic Co-operation says Canada's further recovery from the recent recession now depends largely on the revival of foreign investment and an upsurge in exports.

In a 31-page report on economic conditions in Canada, the organization says this is because much of the additional demand for consumer goods is being met by imports and housing construction already is declining.

Both house building and consumer spending were important factors in the recent recovery.

The study released Monday is part of the OEEC's annual review of recent developments in member countries. Both Canada and the United States are associate members of the organization, dedicated to the task of progressively reducing trade barriers.

The survey "represents the agreed view of the organization as a whole" and covers the 18-month period ending in mid-1959.

The OEEC views as promising the outlook for both increased investment and higher exports.

Canada also was in a good position to increase exports. There was a significant expansion in the productive capacity of the country's basic export industries, such as petroleum, base metals and forest products.

Shoestring Salvagers Expect Huge Profit

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A shoestring salvage operation that defied even the experts is expected to bring enormous profits to the new owners of the broken-backed German-built tanker African Queen.

The three-year-old vessel was raised from a watery grave off the Maryland shore by eight enterprising Virginians in the face of tremendous odds and the skepticism of professional salvagers.

Lloyd Dier, chief of the salvage team which refloated the broken freighter, said scraping work and some repairs had already begun at dockside here.

The Queen, flying the Liberian flag, broke apart on a reef off Ocean City last Dec. 31. Last March a New York salvage firm had decided raising the African Queen would be too risky.

The original cost of the Queen was $6,500,000. Dier says he is optimistic that the patched-up tanker, minus her bow, will bring nearly half the original cost.

Ike Sincere, U.S. Friendly Says Triumphant Mr. K

Thousands Cheer Him In Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev said on his triumphal welcome home from America yesterday that President Eisenhower "sincerely wants to liquidate the cold war" and make friends with Russia, even if some of his aides do not. Khrushchev called the talks with Eisenhower "useful."

In a report to a cheering crowd of 20,000 in Moscow's Lenin sports palace, the Soviet premier gave the impression that his 13-day historic tour of the United States had been successful and a good beginning toward the solution of cold war problems. Throughout he used words like "frank" and "constructive" to describe his talks in America.

HERO'S WELCOME

He received a hero's welcome when his huge TU-114 airliner arrived in Moscow on the 4,986-mile flight from Maryland. The flight took 10 hours and 28 minutes.

A crowd of 500 officials greeted him at the airport and heard him exclaim, "Okay. I've been in America. But Russia is better, it is good to be home."

ROARED APPROVAL

Tens of thousands cheered him along the route from the airport to the sports palace, where the audience roared its welcome and its approval of his remarks—both friendly and critical—about the United States, its policies and its people and hospitality.

He said he and Eisenhower in their Camp David talks had been unable to "clear away all the muck which had accumulated during the cold war."

IKE 'SINCERE'

But, he said, he got the impression that Eisenhower "sincerely wanted to liquidate the cold war and create normal conditions with the U.S.S.R." Reference to Eisenhower's sincerity and good will drew thunderous applause.

Khrushchev did not specify which members of the Eisenhower administration might not want to end the cold war, but he hinted that Vice-President Richard Nixon played a role.

LITTLE DEVILS

There are forces in America, he said, which work to preserve the cold war.

"These evil spirits must be grinded little devils in a frying pan," he said.

His general impression of the American people was that "the people smiled as they do in Moscow."

But he told the Russians that he had met with "hostility" and at one point during his visit to Los Angeles had considered calling off the whole trip. It was in California that he charged the security measures had put him in "house arrest."

During his speech he said the U.S. press and radio for the most part treated his trip objectively, and he had nothing but praise for the mayors of New York, San Francisco and Pittsburgh, as well as farmer Roswell Garst who entertained him at Coon Rapids, Iowa.

Khrushchev said he enjoyed the crowds of Americans and their friendly ways and he said he urged Eisenhower to bring along his wife and family when he visits Russia next spring.

See You Next Spring

End of a historic visit was marked at the steps of Khrushchev's U.S. headquarters, Blair House, as the Russian premier shook hands in farewell with President Eisenhower Sunday in Washington.—(AP Photofax.)

They Know Their Corn

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Khrushchev said yesterday

he had to admit the Americans know how to grow corn—a subject close to his heart. But he said the Iowa corn was sown too closely.

As for the Eisenhower farm at Gettysburg, Pa., he said it was not a very rich one compared with others in the United States.

Big Two Peace Pact Hailed by All Europe

With the Soviet premier. The president had not wavered in his support of West Berliners and West Germans.

READY FOR SUMMIT

Word came from the French foreign ministry that President Charles de Gaulle is ready any time to go to the summit, specifically on the Berlin issue.

Presumably on the basis of advance information from Washington, it was taken for granted in Paris that the time for a summit meeting has still to be set but that it certainly will be before Christmas. Ranking diplomats also reported—even before Eisenhower had said as much himself—that Khrushchev had been able to promise progress toward a Berlin compromise.

The impression among the diplomats here was that the pledge from the Soviet leader was two-fold:

1. He would remove any time-pressure in the form of a deadline—from his demands for an improved set-up in Berlin.

2. He would respect the existing rights of the Western powers to garrison West Berlin and to guard its citizens.

WILD HORSES

The term "mustang" came from "mestengo," a Spanish word meaning strayed or wild.

Berlin Threat 'Past'

WASHINGTON (CP)—Russia has removed its threat to West Berlin and President Eisenhower indicated Monday the way is open to an early East-West summit conference.

In an obviously happy frame of mind—though suffering from a cold that had been hanging off for three weeks—Eisenhower told a press conference his weekend talks with Soviet Premier Khrushchev removed many of the barriers to a summit meeting.

Now the president will get in touch with his allies to decide where and when formal East-West negotiations on Berlin and other issues are to be resumed.

The only Soviet request, at this time, was there be no unnecessary or undue delay in resolving the Berlin issue, though Eisenhower said negotiations on Berlin "will probably take some time."

'Ex-Killer' Nikita Suddenly In FDR-Churchill Class

LONDON (CP)—All of a sudden, the whole picture changes. Now they're putting Nikita Khrushchev on a par with Roosevelt and Churchill.

After the doubts and anxieties of a week ago, British commentators are discarding the cynical note. Something akin to excitement creeps into their dispatches.

Without going overboard, they are talking seriously of a turning point in the cold war. Khrushchev's dazzling personality dominates weekend comment. Two writers use almost the same words in assessing his impact.

"He is a master politician, and as such is in the Churchill-Roosevelt class," writes Henry Brandon in the Sunday Times.

"Only a man of his boundless self-confidence would have dared to embark on this adventure, and would have been able to stand up to its early vicissitudes."

Says Patrick O'Donnovan in the Observer:

"Most people are aware of watching a master politician in the class of Roosevelt and Churchill. It now needs an act of conscious and continual will to regard him as a murderer and recurrent anti-Christ."

"He is the most marvellous performer in the world today, and Americans like performers."

Ike Thanks Citizens For Conduct

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower thanked the American people yesterday for their "restraint" and conduct as a whole during the 13-day visit of Nikita Khrushchev.

"If there is a better understanding on the part of Mr. Khrushchev of our people, then that has been done by the American people," he said.

Khrushchev Wants U.S.-Made 'Copter

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Premier Khrushchev's yen to buy an American helicopter is more than a passing fancy.

President Eisenhower made this plain yesterday in recounting how the Kremlin leader was captivated by helicopter travel during his visit here.

Furthermore, the president added, the premier even asked

Under-Secretary of State C. Douglas Dillon to represent him in negotiations for buying such a craft for his personal use.

Mr. Khrushchev's Visit

PREMIER NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV has returned to Moscow after a momentous ten days in the United States. He is the first Russian ruler ever to visit America, which alone is of importance. His impact was tremendous because of his undoubtedly able and dynamic personality; no shrewder man exists on the international political level and he left a decided mark behind.

He would take with him, however, something of the American scene. If perforce his glimpses of Western ways of life were hurried and therefore inconclusive, he experienced a touch of the antidote to communism. He at least has an idea now of the great nation with which the Soviet Union is at odds. It was noticeable also that much of the cynicism which greeted him on arrival disappeared by the time he had left. That adds up to the good.

Mr. Khrushchev came primarily to have heart-to-heart talks with President Eisenhower. The results of their private conversations have been expressed in general terms, as was to be expected. They include an indication that while the Berlin issue is not resolved its explosive aspect has been dulled. An easement of the cold war may be seen in the hint a summit meeting may be held, under conditions which imply some concession to President Eisenhower. If no concrete agreements have been announced there is assurance that subsequent negotiations will follow up these initial discussions.

One sideline is worth noting. Mr. Khrushchev reveals that the postponement of Mr. Eisenhower's return visit to Moscow from this fall to next spring is to let the Eisenhower grandchildren accompany the president when the weather is better. It is something new for children to orient international diplomacy but the human slant to this arrangement speaks its own significance. So also in this persuasion was the fine impression left by Mrs. Khrushchev. Before he left, Mr. Khrushchev publicly offered to accept the principle of inspection and control of disarmament by stages. Principle often goes by the board when the details come to be dealt with, yet this adds tremendously to his UN pronouncement on abolition of all arms. It suggests the possibility of co-existence after all, even if there is a compulsive wait-and-see factor to be associated.

The Soviet premier presented the spectacle of a man supremely confident in the latent power of the Russian peoples and of their system of government. That in itself causes the threat of war to recede. Quite probably Mr. Khrushchev feels that Russia does not need war to gain its eventual aims, and he has some grounds for thinking that given a little more time the Soviet Union will match the United States in industrial production and thus be enabled to raise the living standards of the Soviet peoples.

The West cannot concede that even the long-term view of a changed communistic system, more pliable and liberal in its operation, will ever equal the benefits of democratic rule. But the implicit easement of a militant situation is a step forward towards live-and-let-live. Without doubt the two leaders exchanged the frankest language in their private talks. Mr. Khrushchev would learn the fundamental factors of the West's position, which he will have to take into account. The further talks and negotiations which have been arranged are an augury for the future, and perhaps more hopeful than ever before. On all counts the Khrushchev-Eisenhower exchange was well worth while.

Criminal Negligence

IN the early hours of Sunday morning there was a bad accident in the Langford district at the junction of the old and new Island Highways. Trained help was urgently needed for the six victims of the head-on collision who, in the words of an ambulance driver, were lying all over the roadside.

In this emergency when life might depend on the speed with which first aid could be given and the injured persons rushed to hospital, how did the bystanders respond? As is so often the case when cars are smashed on the highway, morbid sightseers crowded around the scene of the accident so closely that the ambulance attendants had to force a passage through them.

Public obstruction hampered emergency aid from start to finish. Ambulances speeding to the aid of the badly hurt occupants of the cars were blocked on their errand of mercy by car drivers who paid no attention to the obvious warning conveyed by the wailing sirens and flashing lights. As an attendant put it: "It was the same old story; cars wouldn't pull over, both going and coming back."

At the scene of an accident when will people learn to keep out of the way of the police and ambulance men; to move on if their own help is not needed? On the highway when will drivers learn to give vehicles on emergency service a clear and safe passage, especially at night when the glare of headlights makes overtaking and passing doubly dangerous? Occasions are rare indeed when the high-pitched scream of a siren cannot be heard; and in daytime or darkness the warning lights are brilliant enough to give ample opportunity for the road to be surrendered to the vehicles desperately needing it. When also will drivers learn that they endanger their own lives by obstructing an ambulance or police car travelling at high speed?

On crowded city streets there may sometimes be an excuse for failure to open a clear passage, because of inability to get out of the way due to the presence of parked vehicles and other obstructions. On the highways, however, where the risk is much greater because of higher speed, refusal to do so amounts to criminal negligence and should be punished as such.

Thirty Million at Call

IN widening the guaranteed parity-bond issue of the PGE to $30,000,000 from its original $10,000,000, Mr. Bennett as finance minister of B.C. has put a new conception on the current 5 per cent loan. One does not doubt that the step was taken in response to public interest in a bond issue paying better than the new federal savings bonds, but at the same time each of these parity bonds has the status of call money. The provincially-owned railway might be hard pressed to find $30,000,000 in cash for any number of reasons and investors simultaneously elected to put their bonds on the government's counter. That eventuality may be remote, but in the contract terms it could happen.

Interpreting the News

Steel Deadlock Hurting

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

PRESSURE is building up on President Eisenhower to intervene in the stubborn United States steel strike.

The effects of the strike, now in its 74th day and the longest steel walkout in the U.S. since 1920, are being felt more and more throughout the country. And the pinch of steel shortages may increase at a rapidly accelerating pace as stocks dwindle.

In addition to the 500,000 steel workers involved, a total of 160,000 workers in related industries have already been laid off because the shutdown has affected their business. The threat of further shutdowns, especially in the auto industry, grows heavier daily.

Another reason for intervention is the deadlock in company-union negotiations. Spokesmen for both parties have been meeting sporadically in New York, but neither side has indicated anything approaching important progress.

Eisenhower has repeatedly urged—indeed, almost pleaded—that both sides get down to serious bargaining. The negotiators replied Friday by breaking off their talks indefinitely.

It is this bitterness and no-give policy, however, that appears to be a factor in Eisenhower's wish to keep out of the dispute for as long as possible.

He has been reported to feel that, until company and union show signs of being ready to seek a settlement earnestly, any move by the government to interfere would drive the two sides farther apart and solidify their differences.

If a settlement were forced on them, Eisenhower is said to believe, it could cause lasting bitterness that could harm relations for years.

The most obvious way for Eisenhower to step into the dispute would be to invoke the Taft-Hartley law. This provides for the strikers to return to work for 80 days, while the dispute "cools off" and a fact-finding body studies the issues. But the strike can resume after the 80-day period.

Eisenhower, however, has made it clear that he does not want to use the law.

Thinking Aloud

Peter Stursberg

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

SPEAKING in praise of Ontario teenagers who invaded the Stratford festival, transister sets and rock 'n' roll en route but unfidgety and enthralled as they watched a Shakespearean play, the director said that if he compared them to adult audiences he would have to be rude to the adults.

The teenagers had wonder, he said.

It is perhaps difficult to think of teenagers as having wonder about anything, unless maybe they have but entered the teen age. They all seem so worldly-wise it is old stagers like yours truly who are set wondering; about their assurance and poise.

The grown-up is apt to feel that at their age he was shrinking violet, and unlike them didn't know all the answers.

Yet it would be a surprise if teenagers were as naive in their youth as the generation represented by this writer. They perform are conditioned by their environment and this is a wonderful age.

If it seemed so wonderful that if it banished wonder this would be no wonder at all.

When calling cards are dropped on the moon, with a hint that a later call will be made in person, a teenager can be excused if he seems more blasé than his grandfather was. He is packed full of awareness of more things.

Schooling being such a ticklish argument I won't suggest he is better educated, but of the wide range of his perceptions and knowledge of the world around him there can be no doubt. He couldn't escape the impact of his era even if he would.

That puts a gloss on him that probably deceives us older folk. And since his seniors haven't exactly made the world a place fit for heroes to live in—although no generation ever did and likely enough the teenager in turn will be no exception—this perhaps accounts for his forward airs.

Yet actually, as the Stratford festival director noted, the seemingly blasé teenager has room left for wonder. He doesn't have all the know-how he may affect. He can sit in respectful silence when his outer defences are breached. If as alleged beauty is but skin deep so are other appearances.

Wonder, you know—the faculty to marvel—is a wonderful asset. Wonder of the kind I am discussing is innocence, freshness of soul and mind. A child has this quality in abundance, which is why childhood is such an absorbing and vital period of existence.

The only sad thing about it is that one doesn't realize this until long after, and then it is too late consciously to relish the experience.

Some fortunate adults manage to carry some of their youthful wonder into adulthood. They remain as enthusiastic and eager about everything they turn to as though freshness and interest has never been staled. And the result is most engaging.

By contrast the savor of life is soured when people are too wise, too cynical and too unenthusiastic.

Life lies ahead for the teenager, which is cause for his exuberance if not for his sophistication. But it is good to know that the quality of wonder is still with him.

Reports from Ottawa

(Editor's Note: Gerald Waring is in Spain. During his absence, his column is being conducted by Peter Stursberg, Canadian journalist and commentator.)

PREMIER Antonio Segni of Italy has done a Khrushchev on the Canadian government by wiring that he simply could not make Ottawa on his United States visit. Another rebuff such as this, and there are going to be a lot of pained expressions around the Department of External Affairs.

The usual reasons are given by Signor Segni: pressing government business, the demands of domestic politics, the exigencies of this and that.

His regrets are all the more embarrassing since he was expected for an overnight stay at the end of the month, and gold embossed invitations to meet him had already been sent out.

Many people were relieved when the Soviet leader said that he could not make a side-trip to Canada. Yet if the Canadian invitation was not turned down because of its tardiness—and both sides assert that it was not—then we should surely be concerned rather than relieved.

Especially if others are following suit in saying: "Thank you so much but I just haven't got the time to come to Ottawa."

In this jet-propelled atomic age, diplomacy is conducted by personal visits, by cross-the-table confrontations, by fireside chats. The old methods and courtesies have been junked with last year's fashions and fancies.

Not so long ago it was a leisurely aristocratic process and an ambassador could take months to make an approach to a government. Now, Premier Khrushchev climbs aboard a Russian turbo-prop plane and is in Washington talking to President Eisenhower in a matter of hours.

The Soviet visit is the epitome of this sort of personal diplomacy, and Lester B. Pearson, who was a world figure once, has watched it with appalled fascination. He has likened it to "a combination of quiz program, bull fight and patent medicine campaign."

Of course, the other visits have not been conducted on the scale of a frenzied television spectacular; they have been quiet and business-like.

It is a question whether this type of diplomacy benefits a country of Canada's stature, even though Ottawa is in easy visiting distance of Washington. Statesmen have come here on their way to and from the United States capital, and the government has sought to persuade all that they should do this.

Every effort has been made to establish a habit or pattern among foreign rulers of visiting two capitals instead of one when coming to North America. It would certainly not redound to Canada's prestige if this country were completely ignored by these high-level trippers.

That is why Signor Segni's refusal, following Khrushchev's, is a blow. It has torn a hole in the fabric which the Department of External Affairs has so carefully erected.

Of all the world leaders, one would have thought that the Italian premier would have had cause to come here and much to discuss. Aside from his country being a NATO ally, and a member with Canada in the 10-nation UN disarmament committee, there is the fact that more Italians came here as immigrants last year than any other nationals, including the British.

Yet Signor Segni could not spare a few hours from his United States trip to visit Ottawa.

Perhaps the invitation to Khrushchev was not too late, but it is possible that more could have been done to persuade the Soviet leader that he must see Canada.

It would be too bad if his refusal has been taken to mean that diplomatic travellers need not drop in on Ottawa on the way to or from Washington.

With Khrushchev

Anything Can Happen

By MARQUIS CHILDS

IN all the millions of words written about this man Khrushchev, the thousands of photographs, the miles of television and newsreel film, one very important question remains unanswered.

What impression have the sights and sounds of America made upon him? Did he go back with a sense of America's strength? Or will the lavishness of our way of life confirm the belief of Communist orthodoxy that we are a decadent capitalist country?

There was reason as the tour neared its end to be somewhat more optimistic on this score. At the outset it seemed that the barriers were too great; that given his own iron conviction of the inevitability of Communist triumph and the vast publicity apparatus between the visitor and the normal way of life, he would take away nothing.

But he has shown himself to be more of an individualist than had been suspected. The evidence is that he is far less doctrinaire than some of the ambitious members of the party hierarchy who were travelling with him.

He has frequently shown his practical, pragmatic, perceptive side. It is this phase of his character which led him to take the great gamble of coming to the United States. For Khrushchev the trip was at least as big a gamble, in terms of his status in the Communist bloc, as it is for President Eisenhower and the Republican administration.

When he went on his early morning walk in San Francisco, more or less free of the security and publicity machine, he encountered a garbage-collecting truck with a special device that chewed up the garbage so that it could be disposed of with greater facility. He was greatly interested, wanting to know how it worked, how much it cost and the area in which it could operate in a single day.

The Americans at his side during the trip believe that a great deal has got through to him despite the handicaps. He has spoken several times of the way Americans are housed, the number and attractiveness of the one-family dwellings he has seen from the train. The multiplicity of highways has impressed him. He publicly noted America's richness after he had a glimpse of a supermarket and after his wife had spent more time in several stores in San Francisco.

Whatever his ultimate private judgment, and this above all we shall never know, he can at least have some idea of what an utterly different society ours is. Soviet Russia is austere, puritanical, in many aspects a garrison state slowly emerging from the fearful destruction of the war and the trials and terrors of Stalinism.

The contact with our high, wide and handsome individualism is immeasurably great. This cannot have escaped the shrewd visitor who has been in our midst. How he interprets the difference is something else again.

He could well conclude that our lavishness is softness, the plush phase of a society on the decline. Is there strength in our traffic jams (more than 5,000,000 cars in Los Angeles County alone), our congested cities where a cloud of half-burned gasoline hangs forever in the atmosphere? Is the glittering opulence that he has seen close up merely the margin for luxury that we can afford above and beyond the basic strength of industrial and military readiness to meet any challenge?

These questions must have been in Khrushchev's mind as the journey came to an end. Certainly, it has been no Potemkin tour arranged to impress him. If that had been the objective, far more thought and planning would have gone into this expedition. He has seen us as we are.

It is the most beautiful time of the year in America. California glowed like a jewel. The magic of San Francisco—the fabulous play of light over the distant mountains, the bay, the bridge and the city—worked its way with the visitor as it does with all visitors. The Iowa countryside never looked more bountiful, with a glowing harvest that breaks all records.

Surely this must have left its imprint on a man who has let us see his humanness. He has been angry, he has been gay, he has moved through a backbreaking schedule to a point close to exhaustion. It is altogether an extraordinary adventure, which a short time ago no one would have dreamed was possible. This having happened, one may say that anything can happen.

The Lowly Bicycle

By GREGORY CLARK

NEWLY arrived English friends of mine are astonished at the status of the bicycle in this country.

Not expecting to be able to afford a car for a year or two, they have looked forward to cycling all over the country the way they do in Britain. On highway and byway, they intended to explore their new homeland in the intimate, picknicky way the bicycle permits.

And to their astonishment they find bicycles prohibited on many of the highways and nobody but messenger boys and schoolboys using the machines, obviously at the peril of their lives.

In Britain, bicycles far outnumber motor cars. Their long-established majority keeps motor cars in their place.

Over the highways and along all the curving, winding country roads of Britain the cyclists whirl—scorching, we used to call it in old Canadian cycling days. And the motorist in Britain is allowed no pride of horn-toting to blast the cyclist out of his way. He has got to respect the cyclist, his senior.

Even in the raging tide of London traffic, the bicycles, tandem as often as not, with a baby carrier on the back rack, go swooping along at top speed.

In Canada, cyclists are so humble in our overwhelming motor traffic that they wobble as they go, adding immensely to their own hazard.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

"Only a return to sanity can save the world," writes a syndicated brain. As a last resort, maybe—but surely there must be some easier way.

More language courses are urged in the schools as an aid to world understanding. An idea would be to teach an international tongue like the ones the diplomats use—double talk.

Letters to the Editor

Killing the Scent

The controversy of the Columbia versus the Peace River is a very convenient red herring to kill the scent of the Fraser River.

The last named river is of course supposed to be life blood of the B.C. salmon industry. Sinclair has quoted the value of the Fraser River salmon asking between $60,000,000 and $80,000,000, which of course has never had the slightest relationship to accuracy. Sixty million is perhaps the value of the total fish industry in B.C. in its very top year, and this includes every living fish mammal or shellfish.

The average income from fish derived from the Fraser River above Hope would probably be around $7,000,000. Of this amount sockeye would probably account for $5,500,000 per year.

The balance of B.C. income from water sources comes from the cohoes, pinks, chums, steelheads, sockeyes, which invade all the other streams in B.C.; and includes as well incomes from whales, oysters, clams, etc. In an average year this might amount to $30,000,000, to which one would add the Fraser River income above Hope, amounting to $7,000,000, making a total of $37,000,000.

The Fraser River is perhaps the king of rivers in the world for the purpose of hydro development, with the exception of the Brahmaputra. We are therefore holding back a billion-dollar development on the Fraser to subsidize an industry of less than $10,000,000 annually on the average.

I suggest more study be given to the common grades of salmon and less to the temperamental sockeye. It would also appear to be worth the effort to enlarge the spawning grounds of the sockeye in rivers which rise less than 20 or 30 miles from the coast, for instance the Squamish, Kingcome, Owikeno, Kitimat, Nimpkish, etc.

South Africa Gives History Lesson

UN Debate 'Illegal'

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Foreign Minister Eric Louw of South Africa charged anew Monday that the UN is illegally interfering in his country's domestic affairs by debating its racial policies.

"During past sessions of the assembly—and indeed, since its first session in 1946—it has been the unpleasant duty of leaders of South African delegations to protest against interference in South Africa's domestic affairs," said Louw. "May I remind this assembly that a basic principle contained in a solemn international agreement or covenant cannot be dismissed as being merely a 'legalistic' formula, which can be varied and even disregarded, in the light of changing and even opportunistic 'political' considerations."

The foreign minister attacked the idea that the white population of his country comprises aliens or settlers usurping the right of the natives.

Giving the assembly a history lesson, he stated:

"It happened that the Bantu immigrants from Central Africa, and the European settlers arrived at the northern and southern borders of South Africa respectively, at approximately the same time. Both were immigrants to the almost uninhabited southern end of the African continent."

The ancestors of the great majority of South Africa's whites came to the country 200 to 300 years ago and cannot be termed "colonists or temporary sojourners," he said.

City officials were torn between indignation and laughter yesterday over a Colonist report Sunday that a 60-year-old wooden stave water main on Bay had collapsed.

"The story was absolutely wrong," said Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, public works chairman. "It's absurd. There is no wooden water pipe in the city, except perhaps in the museum, and there was no collapse."

Temporary system of surface pipe and plastic hose has been installed between

Cook and Vancouver, city engineer James Garnett explained, to provide water while the steel pipeline is being cement-coated inside.

The same system will be used, he said, in further stages of the work as far as Shelbourne.

$10,000 For $13 Canvas?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two Vancouver art dealers believe they paid $13 for a painting which is actually worth $10,000.

Carl Rose and Gyula Mayer spotted a painting as a possible original by early French impressionist Camille Corot "filling" an attractive gilt frame at an auction here.

They drew up an agreement with their lawyers not to bid against each other during an auction at Maynard & Sons Friday. They got it — and the frame — for $13.

SIGNATURE FOUND

"We discovered the signature of Corot after lifting the picture from the frame," said Mr. Rose, a former antique auctioneer from Prague.

"I haven't seen many of his paintings and I am sure this is authentic," he said.

To be certain about their purchase, they are sending a photograph of the painting to the Louvre in Paris, which is the source of authentication for Corot's works.

WORTH $10,000

Mr. Rose said that if it's a genuine Corot it will be worth at least $10,000.

Rex Jackson, vice-president of Maynards, said it was purchased in a lot of household goods.

Hitter's view of fast-baller Larry Sherry

Dodgers Need Just One Win To Qualify for World Series

Los Angeles Dodgers, a club which has at times this season looked as inept as the outfit which last year finished a badly whipped seventh but which has tenaciously stayed in the pennant battle with periods of brilliance, today looms as the likely National League representative in the world series.

Yesterday, the Dodgers took the first game of the best-of-three playoff from Milwaukee Braves, 3-2, and have the advantage of playing on their home field for the remaining games, or game.

Burly John Roseboro, an often disappointing replacement for the injured Roy Campanella behind the plate, and gangling Larry Sherry, a rookie righthander, were the heroes of the tense struggle.

Today's National League playoff game between Los Angeles Dodgers and Milwaukee Braves, to be played in Los Angeles Coliseum, will be telecast over Channel 4 starting at 1 p.m. Victoria time.

played before 18,297 chilled, and sometimes dampened fans, in Milwaukee Stadium.

Sherry was rushed to the relief of starter Danny McDevitt when the Braves threatened to run away and hide in a second-inning rally and pitched scoreless baseball from there. Roseboro won it for him by breaking the 2-2 tie with a 375-foot homer lofted into the right-field bleachers.

One run was in, one was out and two runners were on the bags when Sherry came into the game. He had to start against Milwaukee pitcher Carlton Willey with the count two balls and no strikes to make it even tougher.

Willey grounded to Maury Wills and the Braves got the go-ahead run after the rookie shortstop booted the play to load the bags. Del Crandall scored as Bobby Avila forced Willey at second base for the second out.

From there, it was Sherry all the way. Using a blazing ball and an effective slider, he stopped the Braves on four hits in seven and two-thirds innings.

The Dodgers, who had scored once in the first inning on singles by Charlie Neal and Norm Larker around an infield out which moved Neal up, tied it in third inning. Neal again started it with a single but was forced by Wally Moon. But Larker got his second single and veteran Gil Hodges followed with a line shot past third base.

WELL ON WAY

That set the stage for Roseboro's home run, his 10th of the season, and put the Dodgers well on the way to winning their first playoff in three tries.

They were beaten out of the pennant in 1946 when the St. Louis Cardinals took them two straight and again in 1951, when the New York Giants won the deciding game on Bobby Thomson's famed home run. There have only been three National League playoffs and the Dodgers have been involved in them all, the first two playing out of Brooklyn.

For today's second game, both clubs will have two of their ace pitchers ready. Fireballing Don Drysdale, who was 16-5 at one stage of the season and then slumped to wind up 17-13, will be the Los Angeles pitching choice.

UNDERDOGS

The Braves will again rely on Lew Burdette, who won 21 and lost 15 for them this season. But they are 13-5 underdogs in the betting on which club will represent the National League in the world series.

However, betting odds on the series show that gambling men believe the Braves have a better chance of beating the Chicago White Sox than the Dodgers. They quote odds which show the White Sox 11-10 favorites if the Dodgers are their opponents and which make the Chicago club 10-11 shortenders if the Braves come through.

The series opens in Chicago Thursday if the Dodgers win it in two straight games, on Friday if the playoff goes the limit.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PLAYOFF (First game, best of three): Los Angeles 3, Milwaukee 2. Milwaukee 10-11 shortenders if the Braves come through.

Wills, McDevitt, (7) and Crandall, home run: Los Angeles—Roseboro (10).

Bombers in Front After Shading Eskos

WINNIPEG — Winnipeg Blue Bombers, as cold as the 17,700 fans who watched the game in a freezing drizzle, got themselves untracked in the fourth quarter Monday night to regain the Western Inter-Provincial Football Union

Tony Kehrer plunged the last two yards for the touchdown and Van Pelt kicked the convert to pull his club even. Eskimos couldn't get an attack started and the Bombers were soon back in Edmonton territory. Stopped on the four-yard line, they won it when Van Pelt booted his second field goal.

Bombers had a good edge in statistics, most of it rolled up in the last quarter, when they made 12 of their 24 first downs. They had 208 yards on the ground, 185 in the air as Van Pelt completed 14 of 27 passes. Eskimos made only 14 first downs with 166 yards on the ground and 82 in the air.

Stampeders Win Over Roughriders

REGINA — Calgary Stampeders ended their five-game losing streak Monday night and kept alive their Western Inter-provincial Football Union playoff hopes by edging Saskatchewan Roughriders, 18-13.

Only about 6,500 showed up at Taylor Field to watch as the Riders had their losing streak extended to nine games in a still-winless season. But they came close to getting their first win in a fourth-quarter rally which brought them two converted touchdowns.

However, the score was much closer than the other statistics. The Stampeders had a 22-11 edge in first downs, out-gained the Riders, 276 yards to 160 on the ground and 68 yards to 14 in the air.

Fullbacks did most of the heavy work on what was a bad night for the passers. Earl Lunsford and Gene Filipki did most of the ball-toting for the Stampeders while Fred Burket, with help from Ken Carpenter, picked up most of the Saskatchewan yardage.

Calgary quarterback Joe Kapp completed six of 12 passes in another so-so passing performance. Riders threw the ball 11 times, had one completed pass and an interception which set up what proved to be the winning touchdown.

Riders led, 10, after the first half. Then Stampeders exploded for 16 points in the third quarter—a field goal and a convert by Doug Brown and touchdowns by Lunsford and Filipki. A wide field goal try which resulted in a rouge gave the Stamps a 17-1 lead early in the third quarter.

Von Koes, a guard who flopped on a loose ball in the end zone, and quarterback Don Allard got the Saskatchewan touchdowns, both converted by Reg Whitehouse.

Argo Charlie Horton Part of Lions Trade

TORONTO (CP) — Charlie Horton, a guard from Baylor University and Detroit Lions' No. 2 draft choice last season, has been traded by Toronto Argonauts to British Columbia Lions.

The 232-pound, six-foot-two lineman goes to the Western Interprovincial Football Union team in exchange for quarterback Al Dorow. The deal also calls for Argos to turn over to the Lions the future negotiation rights on an unnamed import the B.C. club is interested in. The player has been on the Argo negotiation list.

Horton, 22, was named by general manager Herb Capozzi of the Lions as one of several Argo players the Lions would take when they agreed to a trade Wednesday. The agreement called for Argos to make the selection after their game Saturday against Montreal Alouettes.

Horton did not play in the game. Dorow saw action and

PCL Soccer Opens Play

VANCOUVER (CP) — Columbus and Labatts played to a 3-3 tie before 1,548 fans at Callister Park Sunday as the new semi-professional Pacific Coast Soccer League made its debut.

Centre forward George Dunn scored twice for Labatts, once in each half, while Harry O'Grady scored the other.

Columbus goals came from Tony Canta, Ron Petovello and Mike Kuczi.

Los Angeles, Milwaukee End Schedule Deadlocked

Scheduled play in what turned out to be one of the most interesting major league baseball seasons in history ended Sunday with both the surprising Los Angeles Dodgers and the defending champion Milwaukee Braves winning their games to set up the third National League playoff since 1946.

Roger Craig, who came back from the minor leagues in mid-season to give the Dodgers the Braves had the bags loaded.

Then Ed Mathews bounced to second baseman George Anderson for what seemed to set up an inning-ending double play but Mathews beat the relay to first and Crandall scored the go-ahead run. A passed ball moved the two runners left on the bags to third and second. One scored when Robinson whirled to throw to first base for some unknown reason and a balk was called. Hank Aaron singled for a third run and the Braves were in.

All of their five runs were unearned as the Phils committed four errors in addition to the passed ball and balk.

As for the San Francisco Giants, who appeared to have the thing won less than two weeks ago, they lost a doubleheader to St. Louis Cardinals to complete a collapse which saw them drop seven of their last eight games.

There was nothing left to decide in the American League on the final day except whether or not Baltimore Orioles might gain a fifth-place tie. But Boston Red Sox, who came along well at the end of the season, held it by trimming Washington Senators, 6-2.

New York Yankees, who had won nine of the last 10 pennants, completed the season the way they had started it—by losing. They wound up third, 15 games behind Chicago White Sox and with the lowest number of wins for them in 34 years.

RON MATTHEWS ... new blueliner

Cougars Sign Ron Matthews To Enhance Sound Defence

Vancouver Canucks announced yesterday that they had sold Hugh Currie to Calgary Stampeders but the news was only of passing interest to Hal Laycoe, manager-coach of the Victoria Cougars, who had been trying to make a trade for the veteran defenceman.

Laycoe announced last night that Ron Matthews, all-star Western Hockey League defenceman in the 1957-58 season, had agreed to terms and would report to the Cougars later this week.

Signing of Matthews should give the Cougars the best defence they have yet had, one which combines ruggedness, savvy and scoring punch.

Matthews, who will likely be paired with Jack Bionda, has always been among the top-scoring defencemen in the WHL. He has a booming shot and is one of the best in the league at the point. In his six WHL seasons, all spent with New Westminster, the 32-year-old veteran (33 in January) has scored 60 goals and passed for 168 for an average of 38 points a season.

Last season, he scored nine goals and drew 35 assists for one of his best offensive seasons.

sons, topped only in the previous season when his record showed 11-40. He was fifth among defencemen in all-star balloting in the Western Division last season.

"I'd sooner have him than Currie," the pleased Laycoe stated.

If Matthews and Bionda, another blueliner who gets more than his share of points, are paired, Laycoe will have Pete Wright and Jim Hay for his other defence combination.

SEEMS IDEAL

It seems like an ideal situation. Both Wright and Bionda are rugged performers of the "policemen" type and they will be paired with good-skating veterans who know their way around.

But for the possible need of a rightwinger, acquisition of Matthews appears to complete a Cougar roster which should give a good account of itself this season.

With either Marcel Pelletier or Reno Zanier in goal, the Cougars are well set defensively. They are strong at left-wing and adequate at centre. On the debit side is the lack of size among the forwards and, perhaps, the need of another rightwinger.

BEST LEFT-WINGERS

Gordie Fashoway, Al Nicholson and Arlo Goodwin give the Cougars probably the best set of portside wingmen in the league. And Art Jones, Doug Anderson, Gordie Haworth and Gordie Wilson are four centre-men who have proven their WHL ability.

Arnie Schmutz is a cinch for one of the right-wing spots. Also available are Doug Macauley and John and

A meeting of the Lower Vancouver Island Badminton Association will be held Wednesday night at 8:00 p.m. at the Pacific Club. Election of officers will take place and team entries will be accepted.

George Ford, who scored 26 goals for the Cougars last season, appears to be lost in transit at the moment but is still expected to show up. And then there is the possibility of further help from the Boston Bruins.

"Providence (Boston's No. 1 farm club) has 19 players in camp," Laycoe said. "They won't be able to keep them all."

Second to Richard

One of hockey's all-time greats will appear at Memorial Arena Wednesday night in the person of Gordie Howe who will lead Detroit Red Wings against Victoria Cougars in an exhibition game. Howe, with 418 goals, is second in NHL goal-scoring to Montreal's Maurice Richard who has 525. Game time Wednesday is 8:30.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Out-pacing their opponents throughout the game, Vancouver Wildcats defeated Surrey 15-12 Sunday in an intermediate football league game.

Vancouver held a 9-6 lead at half-time. Maurice Jones opened the scoring for Vancouver with a field goal in the first quarter before Jack Cole opened for the opponents with a touchdown.

Garry Ruckman picked up a fumble and ran for a touchdown to make the score 9-6 for Vancouver.

Cec Stevenson took a 25-yard pass from Mike Davies to end the Vancouver scoring then Cole added a second touchdown for Surrey.

Nanaimo Angler Wins Hidden-Weight Prize

A Nanaimo angler, Ted Blakemore of 755 Drake Street, is the winner of the top hidden-weight prize for August in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest.

Due to the unprecedented number of entries—7,533—it

A 12-foot aluminum Feather Craft carport boat and an English-made Seachief outboard motor are among the other valuable prizes offered in the main draw. And there is a special prize of a fitted Elizabeth Arden cosmetic case, offered by the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., for a lady angler.

Distaff anglers, however, are also eligible to win any of the other prizes. The main hidden-weight draw will be made last next month, after the September and October draws. There are less than three weeks left in which to gain additional chances, so take the few moments necessary to get your fish entered. Size does not count in the hidden-weight draw. Fish need only meet the contest minimums of five pounds for salmon and one pound for trout and small-mouth black bass.

took considerable extra time to make the draw, but Blakemore will find the wait worth while. He will receive a salmon trolling outfit—Sea King "Silver" glass rod, Ocean City reel and 600 feet of monofilament line—offered by Edward Lipsett Ltd.

Blakemore's winning fish was a 29-pound spring salmon caught in Nahmint Bay and entered in the contest at Nahmint Lodge.

STEELHEAD JACKET

Jack Seedhouse, who entered several dozen fish during the month, found it worth while to get himself a lot of chances. He won the second prize of a Plarex steelhead jacket for a six-pound, 12-ounce coho entered at Juan de Fuca Auto Court.

Jeffrey Mayea of Duncan won a Plarex waterproof fishing jacket for a 19-pound three-ounce spring salmon caught in Cowichan Bay and entered at Anchor Marina.

Special ladies' prize of a $10 scrip, offered by the T. Eaton Co. Ltd., was won by Mrs. Wilma Hincks, Marchant Road, Brentwood.

GLASS RODS

Eric Chipper of Langford, H. Cordingley of 1111 Rock Street and Harold Christenson of Metchosin all won Sea King "Silver" glass rods. Chipper's winning fish was a six-pound coho entered at Weir's Beach. Cordingley's a six-pound, 14-ounce coho entered at Ocean Boulevard Cafe and Christenson's a seven-pound spring salmon entered at Becher Bay Marina.

Dick Pilling of 1768 Chandler and Brian Collis of 1027 Esquimalt Road were the other August winners. Both will get a half-dozen assorted Strip and Minnow-Teasers.

CHANCE PER FISH

Every fish entered in the contest by a Colonist subscriber means another chance to win some of the $3,000 worth of hidden-weight prizes being given away this year.

Prizes are awarded at the end of each month's fishing but the big draw is after the completion of the contest Oct. 15. And the big award this year is a two-week holiday for two at the Mexican resort city of Acapulco.

The winner and a friend of his, or her, choice, will be flown to Mexico via Canadian Pacific Airlines for a two-week stay at an Acapulco resort hotel.

Managerial 'Derby' Begins

With the exception of the current National League playoff, regular season play in the major leagues concluded Sunday and already the usual hiring and firing of managers is under way.

Since Sunday, one manager has been fired, another rehired and a third submitted his own resignation.

Fired was Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics. Rehired was veteran Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees. Resigning was Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs.

Craft's dismissal as field manager of the Athletics was not a surprise. A seventh-place finish this season proved his undoing but Craft has been offered a "responsible" role in Kansas City's player development program.

A replacement for Craft will be named by club owner Arnold Johnson, following his return from Europe later this month.

The Yankees set at rest reports that Stengel might not complete his two-year contract with the announcement that he'll again pilot the club in 1960 after a third-place finish this year. Meanwhile, pitching coach Jim Turner was released. A replacement will be named soon by Stengel.

Scheffing resigned and will be replaced by Charlie Grimm, who will manage Chicago for the fourth time. Grimm has been vice-president of the Cubs since being fired as manager at Milwaukee two years ago. Scheffing has accepted a front-office job with the Cubs.

MARATHON SWIMMER Jason Ziganos of Greece lost his life because he tried one too many swims. Ziganos, a 49-year-old retired Greek army major, had swum the English Channel four times, the Bosphorus and had churned around New York's Manhattan Island.

Sunday he took on the North Channel, trying to swim from Ireland to Scotland. A companion gave up after two and a half hours but Ziganos swam on. After 17 hours in the water he suddenly went under. A lifeguard accompanying Ziganos dived in, encountered difficulty, but finally pulled him to the surface and aboard a boat. Artificial respiration failed.

CHICAGO BLACK HAWKS have signed Stan Mikita of St. Catharines, Ont., to a two-year contract. Mikita was the most valuable player and leading scorer in the Ontario Junior "A" League last year. Toronto City Council has appropriated a soccer park which was the scene of a riot last month. The council took over Fred Hamilton Park and no more soccer will be played after this season is finished.

YVON DURELLE won an unpopular unanimous decision over Charley Jones of Newark, N.J., in a 10-round heavy-weight fight at Quebec. National League president Warren Giles says that San Francisco pitcher Sam Jones will not be credited with a no-hitter for his seven-inning effort against St. Louis. According to league rules, an official no-hitter must go nine innings.

SAO PAULO Football Club officials say their new stadium being built for the 1963 Pan-American Games will seat 150,000. Mason Rudolph fired a two-under-par 69 to win

Larry Popein and Dean Prentice. Assistant coach Colin Kilburn scored Canucks' only goal early in the third. Rangers led 1-0 after the first period, added another in the second, and outscored Canucks 2-1 in the final.

It was the Rangers' fourth win over their Western Hockey League farm team. Saturday night they edged the WHL's Victoria Cougars, 5-4, at Victoria.

Standing-Room Only As Red Wings Win

SEATTLE — Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League had to hold off a determined third-period rally by Seattle Totems to win an exhibition game 5-4 before a standing-room-only crowd of 4,644.

The huge crowd watched the Western League champion Totems score three goals in the final period to come within a fraction of handing the Red Wings their first defeat in three years of exhibition play out west.

Rookie Ed Dudych, Guyle Fielder, Tom McVie and Eddie

Stankiewicz scored for Seattle. Detroit goals came from Jack McIntyre, two, Marcel Pronovost, Alex Delvecchio and Jim Morrison.

Detroit led 4-1 entering the final period. Pete Goegan and Brian Cullen of Detroit suffered knee injuries during the game. Cullen, out for his weeks, will be replaced by Stuart McNeill.

Lou Maroon will replace Goegan. Both recruits are from Edmonton Flyers. Detroit closes out its western road trip with games at Victoria Wednesday and Vancouver Thursday.

Blues Triumph Over Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—New York Rangers of the National Hockey League scored their fifth consecutive exhibition victory Sunday, defeating Vancouver Canucks, 4-1, in a hard-fought game before about 4,700 fans.

The outcome was in doubt until the last minute when Rangers scored twice.

Rangers' scorers were rookie Ken Schinkel, Brian Cullen, who will manage Chicago for the fourth time. Grimm has been vice-president of the Cubs since being fired as manager at Milwaukee two years ago. Scheffing has accepted a front-office job with the Cubs.

Colts Conquer Lions

Packers Upset Chicago Bears

Baltimore's defending champion Orioles, led as usual by quarterback Johnny Unitas, opened their National Football League season with a 21-9 conquest of Detroit's stubborn Lions but Green Bay's unheralded Packers stole the headlines.

Figured nothing more than trailers, the Packers scored the big upset of the young season by knocking off Chicago Bears, 9-6. Victory came for the Packers when Jim Ringo recovered the fumble off a punt on the Chicago 26-yard line. Six plays later, the Packers got the game's only touchdown. Their quarter and threatened only once in the first half. They were trailing, 9-0, when Unitas finally got his club going.

Chicago Cardinals, coached by Pop Ivy, drew second glances by burying Washington Redskins, 49-21, with a sophomore Bobby Joe Conrad the star of a razzle-dazzle offense.

Conrad scored touchdowns on runs of 56 and 35 yards and caught a pass from M. C. Reynolds for another six points. He also converted all seven Cardinal touchdowns to wind up with 25 points for the day. In Sunday's other game, San Francisco 49ers grabbed a 24-7 lead, then staved off Philadelphia Eagles, 24-14, when veteran quarterback Norm Van Brocklin hit his stride in the second half.

Kuenn Wins Hitting Crown; Aaron Shoo-In for National

NEW YORK (AP)—Harvey Kuenn of Detroit clinched his first American League batting championship Sunday. He finished with a .353 average.

Kuenn is the first Detroit player to win the title since Al Kalline in 1955. Kalline was runner-up to Kuenn this season with a .327 mark. Tito Francona of Cleveland, who did not begin playing regularly until June 1, wound up with a .363 average and 443 total appearances. He was only 34 appearances short of qualifying for the batting crown. Francona had 399 of 400 at bat.

In the National League, Hank Aaron of Milwaukee appears to have sewed up his second title. The Braves' outfielder is hitting .355. Joe Cunningham of St. Louis, in second place, finished with .345. Aaron's performance in the playoff series with Los Angeles will count in the final records. Even if Aaron goes hitless in 15 times at bat in the playoffs he will wind up with a .346 mark.

Eddie Mathews of Milwaukee has an opportunity to win the National League home run crown in the playoffs. He ended the regular campaign in a tie with Chicago's Ernie Banks. Each has 45. Banks won the runs-batted-in title with 143. Frank Robinson of Cincinnati is next with 125.

Rocky Colavito of Cleveland and Harmon Killebrew of Washington wound up in a League lead in homers with 42 apiece. Jackie Jensen of Boston collected the most RBIs, 112.

Brodies in McGavin Cup Final

It took 30 minutes of end-to-end overtime play Sunday at Heywood Park before Kickers found out that they will oppose Brodies Bakery in next month's McGavin Cup soccer final.

Left-winger Ken Hibbert's goal with 10 minutes remaining in the overtime period gave Brodies a 3-2 win over Canadian Scottish. Five hundred fans witnessed what has to be classed as the best game of the competition thus far.

Brodies, grabbing a 2-0 lead in the first 15 minutes on goals

by Henry Vanderhorst and Gary Lawrence, almost blew

Sunday's game through careless play.

WHY WE BUILT TWO CARS FOR 1960...

as different as night and day!

On October 2nd—for the first time in Chevrolet's history—you will be able to walk into your dealer's showroom and see two totally different kinds of cars. ■ One is the conventional 1960 Chevrolet, brand new in appearance and more beautifully refined and luxurious than you can imagine. ■ The other is unlike any car we or anybody else ever built—the revolutionary Corvair, with the engine in the rear where it belongs in a compact car. ■ We'd like to tell you why we built two such different cars, how we built them—and for whom we built them.

Why two kinds of cars? Because Canada itself has been going through some big changes in the past few years. Our cities have been straining at their seams. Traffic is jam-packed. Parking space is at a premium.

And our suburbs have spread like wildfire. People are living farther from their work, driving more miles on crowded streets. There is new leisure time — and more things to do. There's a new standard of living — and more need for two cars in the family garage.

In short, Canada's automobile needs have become so complex that no one kind of car can satisfy them completely. That is why we at General Motors, keeping tab on these trends, have had a revolutionary compact car in the planning stages for more than nine years undergoing revisions and refinements.

Consequently, when we decided three years ago to prepare for production of such a car we were ready to build it the way it should be built. There was no need for a hasty "crash" program that would create only a sawed-off version of a conventional-sized car.

That is why the two cars you will see in your dealer's showroom October 2nd will be two entirely different kinds of cars — each one built the way it should be built, to best fill the needs it was meant to fill.

One is the conventional '60 Chevrolet — brand new in beauty, with new space inside, new spirit under the hood, a new feeling of sumptuousness and luxury never before attained by any car in its field. There is great V8 power, linked with new thrift, plus Chevrolet's superb, (and Canada's most popular) 6-cylinder engine. It is a traditional car that comes even closer to perfection — in silence, in room, in ease of control, in velvety ride — than any other Chevrolet we have ever made.

The other is the Corvair, a compact car that is astonishingly different from anything ever built in this country. It has to be — because this is a six-passenger compact car, with a really remarkable performance... a car designed specifically to Canadian standards of comfort, to Canadian traffic needs.

The engine is in the rear. Among the basic advantages resulting from this engine location are better traction on a compact 108-inch wheelbase and a practically flat floor. But to be placed in the rear, the engine had to be ultra-light and ultra-short. So Corvair's engine is totally new — mostly aluminum and air-cooled; it weighs about 40 per cent less than conventional engines. It is a "flat" horizontally opposed six — so it is only three cylinders long... and that leaves a lot more room for passengers.

Another weight saving: like modern airplanes, the Corvair has no frame; the body-shell supplies its great structural strength... it's a welded unit that is virtually rattle-free.

The ride is fantastic. But to get it we had to design independent suspension at every wheel; conventional springing would give a compact car a choppy ride. Right now we'll make one prediction; the Corvair will be the only Canadian compact car with this type of suspension system — the only one that rides so comfortably, holds the road so firmly and handles so beautifully. Now there are two kinds of cars from Chevrolet — because it takes two kinds of cars to serve Canada's needs today. If you love luxury — the utmost in luxury — and if you want generous interior space, breath-taking performance, automatic drives and power assists — then the conventional '60 Chevrolet may be your choice. If easy parking, traffic agility and utmost economy are high on your list — then you should seriously consider the Corvair. But the best thing to do is to look these two new cars over at your Chevrolet dealer's... take them out for a drive. It may be that the only logical choice for your family between two cars like this is — both. They make a perfect pair.

CHEVY MOUNTS THE ENGINE TO MATCH THE CAR

The front-mounted engine provides most efficient weight distribution in a conventional-sized Chevrolet, splitting the load almost evenly between the front and rear wheels. Since a 4-door Chevy sedan weighs 3,550 lbs., this design puts adequate weight in the rear for sure-footed traction and road-grip while giving a solid, consistently balanced big-car ride.

A rear-mounted engine gives the best weight distribution for a lighter, compact car like the 2,340 lb. Corvair. This design puts some 60% of the weight on the rear wheels for extra traction in cornering and driving on ice, mud or snow. Corvair, by avoiding nose-heaviness of front-engine compact cars, also gives you better riding, handling and braking characteristics.

Saving Steps For Postman Is Expensive

SCUNTHORPE, England (UPI)—The mail goes through in England, too, despite hail, sleet rain, etc., and unnecessary three-mile walks up lonely country lanes.

Farmer Jack Connell tried to save a middle-aged village postwoman a three-mile hike to his lonely house for mail deliveries and suggested:

"Leave the mail handy at the post office. I pass there every day and I'll pick it up myself."

The British post office was horrified.

"Pick it up yourself?" A post office official telephoned Connell. "This, sir, is a special privilege for which there is a yearly fee of three pounds!"

Connell refuses to pay. The postwoman still trudges three miles each day up the lane.

Victoria's the Tops Editor Concludes

Victorians don't believe their own "little bit of olde England" tourist propaganda, and they don't need to, for the city has a charm that can't fail to attract the most blasé tourist.

That's the conclusion drawn in the Oct. 10 issue of Maclean's magazine by Ray Gardner, an editor who holidayed here recently. Mr. Gardner took a searching look at Victoria as a tourist centre, and wound up with an article and photographs to give the city nationwide publicity.

Mr. Gardner, in word and picture, praises such places as the Crystal Garden conservatory, the city's antique shops and bookstores, the illuminated OTTAWA (CP)—Between 50 and 60 Arab students are expected to arrive in Canada within the next two weeks to take post-graduate courses at Canadian universities.

Arrangements were concluded between the United Arab Republic and the National Conference of Canadian Universities. The department of external affairs acted as liaison.

A report from London said the students are among roughly 200 which the Arab government has withdrawn from Russian universities because they were being subjected to excessive ideological pressure.

The Canadian universities have two representatives in Cairo at the present time interviewing the students and making final arrangements for their move to Canada. Most of the students are in science or engineering.

The university representatives were sent to the Middle East because the U.A.R. did not make its request for assistance until August, too late to arrange accommodation by mail.

A spokesman for the university conference said all its members were canvassed and each one offered to take as many of the students as might be assigned to it.

Islanders' Paintings Enjoy Brisk Sales

Work of two Vancouver Island artists enjoying their first Victoria exhibition is getting an enthusiastic reception from art buyers as well as art lovers.

Chris Phillips of Apollo Galleries said yesterday that buyers have spoken for half of the 49 native scenes done by George Clutesi of Victoria and Georgina Abrams-Lytton of Nanaimo.

The exhibition, which ends Wednesday, got its biggest single stimulus yesterday when a New Yorker strolled into the galleries and plunked down some $500 for 12 pictures, six by each artist.

Mr. Phillips said that 14 of the 34 Clutesi paintings have been purchased, and 13 of those by the Nanaimo artist.

Mr. Clutesi's works have sold for $25 to $150 and Georgina Abrams-Lytton's for $45 to $75.

$61,200 Substation 'Cut In' at Crofton

DUNCAN—B.C. Power Commission crews working in driving rain Sunday "cut in" the new $61,200 Crofton substation and immediately started an $18,000 project to more than double the voltage in the area.

District manager John Gardner said yesterday the voltage will be increased from 2,300 to 6,900 volts.

At the same time two existing substations in the area will be "eliminated." Work is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 31.

Mr. Gardner explained the new substation was needed, and was completed three years ahead of schedule because last winter the areas serviced by the line were "plagued with a series of power outages."

Cowichan Groups To Talk Tactics

DUNCAN — Members of a Cowichan group trying to get government approval for a new hospital here and an annex to Lake Cowichan said last night they expect to set a date for a joint meeting today or tomorrow.

They will discuss their next move on what to do since Health Minister Eric Martin stuck to a government survey which turned "thumbs down" on any hospital at the lake.

The minister also ignored a request by the group in a brief for a meeting.

Group secretary L. B. Bailey of Lake Cowichan said "We should know when we'll meet today or tomorrow. We're waiting to set a date until we find out what dates Robert Strachan has open."

The CCF opposition leader and MLA for Cowichan-Newcastle was due to arrive back on the Island about midnight last night after a speaking tour in the B.C. interior.

Another Record Month

There is a good chance that September will be a fifth successive record month in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest despite the fact that Vancouver Island coho runs are later than usual.

Entries received this month already total 4,102 fish and with two days left and only a portion of weekend entries received, there is more than a chance that the final total this month will exceed last year's 4,395, previous high for September.

With the previous record year—1957—already more than 5,000 fish back, every month this year has produced a new record, topped by the staggering total of 7,533 entries for August. Every one of the five contest divisions is far ahead of any previous year except small-mouth black bass, now exactly even with last year's total of 581 fish but well behind 1957, which produced 715 entries.

Entries in the spring salmon division already total more than 9,900 fish as compared to the previous high of 6,430, set last year. And despite the fact that coho fishing has generally been poor for the past two months, the entry of more than 9,500 silvers is already more than 1,000 ahead of the 8,535 entered in 1957.

And there has even been a bigger gain, percentage-wise, in the tyee salmon division. Entries now stand at almost 800 fish as against the previous high of 496 in 1957 and last year's total of 404.

Garden Notes

Don't Let Them Rot

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

One very common problem in gardening is how to keep the vegetables firm, fresh and wholesome in storage through the winter. Country folk, with their dugouts and root cellars, don't have too much trouble, as temperature and humidity is usually about right in such underground stores, although ventilation is sometimes difficult.

The town dweller, though, with central heating and a warmish basement, has a real problem on his hands. It is so discouraging, too, to have those lovely vegetables, raised by the sweat of your brow, going bad in storage.

I had quite a few letters from readers last winter complaining of rot in potatoes, blue mould on the onions, and white whiskers on the carrots. Some of these troubles are caused by incorrect storage conditions, but not all. A common source of trouble is harvesting at the wrong stage of growth, and some simply by trying to store varieties which are not good keepers under any circumstances.

Potatoes never keep very well if harvested while the "haulm" or top-growth is still green and growing, and these should be left in the ground until the tops have died down naturally. A good test is to rub the skin of a newly dug potato with the thumb—if it rubs off, the tuber is too young for storage.

It is sometimes necessary to lift potatoes while the tops are still green strikes, the tops must be cut down immediately and hauled away before they can infect the tubers. In all such cases, the crop should be set aside for immediate use, for while immature potatoes may have that wonderful "new" flavor, they are no good for storage.

After digging, leave the potatoes out in the sun to dry off for about three hours, not longer, or the skins may turn green. Store in a cool but well ventilated place in perfect darkness. Some air circulation through the heap is very important, as potatoes "sweat" a little in storage, and may go musty in stagnant air. Ideal temperature is around 40 degrees—pretty difficult, but a few degrees higher won't hurt too much. One way of cooling a basement storage room in early fall is to open the windows at night, closing them as the outside air warms up during the day.

Onions are ready to harvest when the tops are more yellow than green—they don't have to be completely turned, as long as the ripening process has started. After pulling, bake in the sun in a dry place—greenhouse, unused coldframe, sunporch, etc., turning the bulbs occasionally, until the tops and roots are so dry as to crumble when rubbed. Before storing, remove all thick-necked specimens and set them aside for immediate use—they are not good keepers.

Stored onions can take a little more warmth than spuds, and don't require darkness, but are more insistent upon thoroughly dry conditions. A basement floor is too damp, so get them up on slatted shelves or trays, netted bags, or hang them up in bunches.

Li'l Abner Day

Tribute to Capp

Quarter-Century of Laughs

Today in Washington, D.C., a group of distinguished citizens are celebrating the 25th Anniversary of one of the happiest events in the long, rich history of American humor, namely, the "birth" of what has long since become the world's best-known and best-loved newspaper comic, Al Capp's "Li'l Abner."

As one of the nearly 1,000 papers in which the hilarious saga of the strong, handsome, pure-hearted young hillbilly hero and his Dogpatch friends and neighbors now appears every weekday and Sunday, the Colonist can only say it's never known a 25th anniversary more deserving of wholehearted observance by the whole laughter-loving world.

Like most newspaper comics it underwent two distinct and separate starts, the first, when the "Li'l Abner" strip made its initial appearance in seven daily newspapers on Aug. 13, 1934, and the other, when the "Li'l Abner" four-color weekly page feature was launched in eight Sunday papers on Feb. 24, 1935.

From those small beginnings, both the daily strip and the Sunday page scored an immediate success. Today, as it completes its first quarter-century, it is appearing in nearly 900 daily and Sunday papers within the U.S. and Canada, and in almost 100 foreign papers in 28 different countries in Europe, Africa, the Middle East, Central and South America, Australia, the Philippines, Japan, India and the Far East.

To many older readers, the fact that "Li'l Abner" has reached the 25-year milestone will bring a slight shock of surprise. In that happily dilapidated community known as Dogpatch, U.S.A., time has a pleasant way of standing almost still, and though Li'l Abner and Daisy Mae are now happily married and the parents of a sturdy young son, neither they nor put-sized little Mammy and Pappy Yokum, nor such familiar neighbors and friends as Moonbeam, Moosie, Marvin, Sam, Senator Phoghound, General Bullmoose, Hairless Joe and Lonesome Polecat look any older than when we first met them.

For that fact and for such unforgettable mirth-makers as the Sadie Hawkins Day Race, Lena the Hyena, the Shmoos, Bald Iggle the Kigmy, Bassett the Parrot, Lower Slobbovia and the literally countless other creations that have issued from Capp's gifted imagination and talented pen during the past 25 years, we can all be grateful. May we all be around, still laughing, to celebrate "Li'l Abner's" 50th anniversary—and Al Capp's 75th birthday!

There is a considerable difference between a raise from one to four in a major by a player who has passed and one who has not yet bid. With an unpassed hand, this type of raise usually denies any substantial high-card values and is essentially a shut-out bid. Having passed once, North's raise to game was stronger than a jump to three, and South was certainly more than justified in trying for the slam.

With his actual hand, North should have merely invited game by raising to three spades. Yet the final contract was not a bad one, and appeared to depend upon a simple heart finesse.

'If Ingrid Leaves I'll Kill Myself'

The Loves and Letters of a Troubled Ingrid Bergman

By JOSEPH HENRY STEELE

When Ingrid and Rossellini gave me the step-by-step recounting of their tribulations, the two lovers became increasingly emotional. Ingrid told how in the past three months she had again and again pleaded with Dr. Lindstrom for a divorce, on any grounds he chose. But he remained adamant. She was equally adamant that she would never return home.

Throughout Ingrid's strained recital Rossellini kept fitfully gesticulating and fumbling and several times repeated melodramatically that, "If Ingrid she go back to that man, I kill myself!"

Ingrid continued: "Petter wanted me to meet him anywhere in Europe, but Roberto didn't want me to. Petter refused to come to Stromboli."

Ingrid told how Lindstrom finally capitulated and agreed to meet her in Messina.

"Everybody had his or her own advice to give us. It was impossible to talk with Petter with so many people saying what should be done. Petter insisted it was his right to see me alone."

"Ahh!" interjected Rossellini, tugging characteristically at the lock of hair behind his

Now, for the first time, the whole story behind the headlines Ingrid Bergman has made as a star and as a woman who follows her heart, regardless of convention, is told by a confidant who knows every side of the story. This is the eighth instalment in an exclusive Colonist series.

left ear. "Ingrid is lost if she stay alone with him. That cold man—he is dominating Ingrid. She have no will when he look at her!"

Ingrid turned to Rossellini protestingly. "But that is not right, Roberto. I had to see him alone. It was the only way we could have talked."

"So I went into Petter's room," Ingrid continued, "and he quickly locked the door. Then Roberto went crazy."

At this point Rossellini jumped to his feet, declared, "I don't listen more!" and stalked away from Ingrid and me into the other room of the suite. Ingrid, with a sudden look of fear, jumped off the bed and followed him.

What else transpired in the Messina drama I later gathered from Kay Brown and one of Rossellini's hangers-on. Their first-hand account was that when Dr. Lindstrom turned the lock on Ingrid, Rossellini summoned the police and told them that Ingrid was being held against her will.

Ingrid Bergman and her daughter, Pia (Jenny Ann) Lindstrom, were kept apart for many years through the effects of Ingrid's romance with and marriage to, Roberto Rossellini.

tor was bent on abducting his own spouse.

In a few minutes, Ingrid and Rossellini, now somewhat calmer, returned to talk with me again.

"Well, I got nowhere with Petter," Ingrid resumed, "I got awfully tired of arguing with him, so I gave up. We decided to give out a statement to the press. Everybody present that day had a finger in it."

"It's no wonder the press didn't let up on you," I said. "This is nothing but evasive double-talk."

"I know," she said with great weariness. "I wanted to tell the truth, and announce that we were going to be divorced. But this is what they cooked up."

Public Display

I could only conclude that the "meeting" had added up to a total impasse, compounded of passion, pride, hysteria, self-interest, and just plain bullheadedness.

Dr. Lindstrom's version of the Messina episode was given in the custody trial for Pia in 1952. "I went there," he said, "to plead with Ingrid to consider our child, and to desist from her public display of affection for Roberto Rossellini, who was a married man."

Rossellini's attitude then, and throughout my whole Italian sojourn, was that of his being "the injured party."

A few days after our initial meeting, Rossellini announced we were off to Taormina, the famed resort.

One thing was certain: Rossellini did not care whether or not the picture was made on schedule.

Temper, Tantrums

In Taormina Rossellini conducted his guests down to a rockstrewn cove so that those who wished could swim or boat. He donned skin diving gear to demonstrate his favorite sport—spearfishing.

He continued his performance an hour, two hours.

Finally, it grew dark and he gave up the elusive contest.

"If only he had caught one little fish, he would have come," said Ingrid. "He hates to give in."

What does he want with one little fish? I thought. He's already snared the biggest.

Towards noon of the following day Ingrid suggested a stroll in the gardens. At last I was able to talk with her freely, without fear of temper tantrums inhibiting her.

"There are things I must know, Ingrid," I said. "Questions I must know the answers to, so that I can answer them when they are put to me. What about Roberto's wife?"

Almost Killed Him

"He has been separated from her for many years," she said. "Roberto has always provided well for her. After their two young sons, and after they separated she took the boys and settled in Barcelona. Several years ago Romano got an appendix attack and died. Roberto felt guilty because he was on Capri with Anna Mag-nani when he got the news."

He speaks of Romano all the time. He'll never get over it. "He has tried and tried to get an annulment of the marriage, but it is very difficult in Italy. His wife has co-operated in every way. Now he thinks he can get it in Austria."

"It's too bad. I wish we could have settled all this quietly."

"I know, Ingrid. You never could get used to the fact that you're public domain. That's why it's important that you both be more discreet."

"And there should be a stop to taking pictures and issuing statements until you and Peter come to some kind of sensible agreement."

She'll Understand

"What about Pia?" I asked. "Are you prepared to give her up?"

"What do you mean?" she stared at me in muted anger. "Certainly not! Peter wouldn't do anything to keep her from me! I wouldn't want to take her from school, but there's no reason why she couldn't spend her summer vacation with me. She's too young now to know what this is all about; when she grows up, she'll understand."

That was how Ingrid felt then.

Next morning Ingrid, looking untroubled, gave me a letter that had arrived from my daughter, Olivia, in which she enclosed some newspaper clippings. One quoted the demand of Colorado's Senator Edwin C. Johnson that Ingrid be forever barred from the United States for "moral turpitude."

Now, out on the terrace of the house, Ingrid, Roberto and his entourage gathered.

Glib, and unencumbered by modesty, Rossellini discoursed on a wide range of subjects, never wanting for anecdotes. Ingrid listened quietly, never laughed, occasionally smiled, and seldom spoke.

When publicity man Harold Lewis arrived to ask Rossellini when he planned to resume shooting and said the studio was "beating his brains out" because of the delays, Rossellini blandly asked how could he help it if Stramboli got too hot?

Wearing a look of utter bafflement, Lewis ambled off in the direction of the primitive telegraph office, to try to put some logic in a report to his superior.

Only here and there in all this was a note of compassion.

The Naked Maja's No Strip Tease

By CLYDE GILMOUR

The turbulent young manhood of the great Spanish painter Francisco Goya (1746-1828) must have been a fascinating true-life story...

but only an occasional brief gleam of excitement shines through the pervading dullness of The Naked Maja, Hollywood's new biography of the artist, now at the Odeon.

Anthony Franciosa, justly admired in one or two previous screen performances, doesn't approach within a mile of conveying Goya's gusto and flamboyance, his fierce integrity of conscience, his hatred of tyranny and pomposity, and his genuine compassion for mankind.

Ava Gardner, looking a bit gaunt despite her gorgeous costumes, is similarly short-weight in her attempt to portray the fiery and headstrong Duchess of Alba, Goya's favorite high-society model.

The film's sex title, I need hardly inform you, is cheeky come-on. The duchess is not shown posing in the nude, and the 18th-century sensation stirred up by the painting is reflected only briefly and unimportantly in the story.

Even the love-scenes between Franciosa and Miss Gardner are curiously pallid in style and mood. The spectator might well wonder if director Henry Koster is still under the spell of the mild, prim little operetta-musicals he used to handle years ago when Deanna Durbin was one of the princesses of celluloid.

The Naked Maja was chiefly photographed in Italy rather than in Spain. One advantage of this was the assignment of Giuseppe Rotunno as principal cameraman: his widescreen views of the Spanish court in Technicolor are beautifully shot and free of self-conscious artiness.

There are two skilled performances among the predominantly Italian cast. They are given by Gina Cervi as the weak and fatuous Spanish monarch, Carlos IV, and by Amedeo Nazzari as the scheming prime minister, a suave rogue who never hesitated to use murder as an instrument of politics.

Only 240 miles of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the United States are owned publicly.

Bennett Will Be Just Browsing On Trip to U.S. Money Marts

Premier Bennett will visit New York, Boston and Chicago next month "not to borrow money but to study the money market and financial situation."

He said so yesterday in outlining his plans for a busy few weeks.

His schedule, he said, includes:

Oct. 8—Cabinet meeting in New Westminster.
Oct. 13—Leaves for Ottawa for continuation of the adjourned finance ministers' conference. Oct. 15 and 16, and to give a dinner for representatives of other countries in connection with the trade fair planned in 1961.

Oct. 17 to 22—Visits to New York, Boston, Chicago.

Oct. 28—Back in B.C. for cement-pouring at Port Mann bridge.

Oct. 29-30—Social Credit convention in Vancouver.

The premier said the third $10,000,000 issue of PGE parity bonds was selling well, but indicated the government had no plans now to issue similar bonds for the B.C. Toll Highways and Bridges Authority and B.C. Power Commission.

Offer to Negotiate with France

Algeria Rebels Seek Peace

TUNIS, Tunisia (UPI)—The Algerian rebel government-in-exile Monday announced its readiness to negotiate with France on conditions for an "immediate" peace in revolt-torn Algeria.

The rebel "provisional government," in a formal statement issued here, declared it was prepared to begin talks with the French on a cease-fire and President Charles de Gaulle's offer of Algerian self-determination.

The rebel statement specified, however, that political as well as military conditions should be discussed in any talks to end the bloody five-year-old revolt in Algeria.

The offer was contained in a statement read to a news conference here by rebel "premier" Ferhat Abbas in response to the dramatic Algerian peace plan outlined 12 days ago by de Gaulle.

Abbas read the rebel statement today to nearly 100 Tunisian and foreign newsmen in the Majestic Hotel in downtown Tunis.

The rebels had announced beforehand that they would answer no questions following the reading of the statement. Their idea was that French and world judgment on their reply should be based strictly on the words of the statement.

Courtroom Parade

Better to Be Late Than Kill Yourself

Driver of a car involved in a spectacular crash Sept. 17 on Esquimalt Road near Duns-muir pleaded guilty in Esqui-malt court yesterday to a charge of criminally negligent driving.

Joseph Lipsett Medlyn, 833 Admirals, was fined $70 and his driver's licence was sus-pended by Magistrate William Ostler.

Court was told accused's car went into the curve on Esqui-malt at Dunsmuir at an esti-mated speed of about 60 miles an hour, and struck a power pole.

Both Medlyn and a passenger were injured.

Asked why the hurry, ac-cused said he didn't know the time, but his leave was up at 12:30 a.m. and he was hurrying back to quarters. Police said the time was 11:50 p.m.

"It's good to be on time," said the magistrate, "but it would be better to be adrift than to kill yourself or some-one with you."

In city police court yester-day Barrie E. Temple, 74 Regina, pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving. He was fined $250 and his driver's licence was suspended.

Police said accused was driv-ing at from 20 to five miles an hour on Blanshard at about 9:45 p.m. Saturday. Because of his varying speed, a line of cars behind was forced to open and close "like an accordion."

Two Safes Cracked In Weekend

Safes were broken open in two of three burglaries re-ported to city police during the weekend, and cash totalling about $150 was stolen.

Thieves are believed to have entered Imperial Optical, 817 Fort, by an open transom some time after 12:40 p.m. Saturday. The top was forced from an of-fice safe, and about $100 re-moved. A filing cabinet and cash box were also forced open.

Another $50 in silver was taken from a safe at Ed and Austy's Service Station, Broughton and Quadra, where entry was gained by breaking a side window. The metal floor of the safe was drilled, and the top forced open.

Also taken were two folders containing charge accounts, paid bills and a $40 post-dated cheque.

Third place burgled was Campion and Co., chartered ac-countants, 1012 Douglas, where a door was jimmied, desks rifled, and about $150 in petty cash removed.

'Make Labor's Views Heard'

Carpenters' Chiefs Huddle

The best way to combat restrictive labor legislation is to keep legislators informed on the views of organized labor, a top union official from Washington state said here yesterday.

Paul Rudd addressed the 17th annual convention of the B.C. Provincial Council of Carpenters which opened here in Britannia Legion Hall. Mr. Rudd is president of the state carpenters' council.

His speech followed bitter attacks on British Columbia's controversial Bill 43 by several delegates among the 100 attending the three-day convention from all over B.C. and the Yukon.

Mr. Rudd said the recently passed Ladner-Griffin bill has "cut the heart out of labor organizations" in the U.S.

"I'm sure that if more letters had been sent on behalf of organized labor to senators and representatives in Washington, D.C., a very different piece of legislation would have been passed," he said.

Earlier, E. T. Staley of Victoria, secretary of the B.C. council, charged the provincial government with a "sneak attack" in presenting Bill 43 in the legislature without advising labor, and after Labor Minister Wicks "deliberately created an impression... that industrial unrest was on the decrease in the province."

George Bengough, member of the executive board, called for an educational program to make members aware of the restrictive nature of Bill 43. He said even "some officers in local unions don't seem concerned."

"...advancing the art of transportation"

Volkswagen's success is world-wide. New in design, unorthodox in concept, its many unique features have won wholehearted approval in 110 countries from laymen and engineers alike.

The engine is mounted in the rear. You get better traction in snow, mud or sand. The engine is air-cooled. No water to boil, no anti-freeze to buy, no radiator to leak. Torsion bar suspension with independent springing on all four wheels. Greater comfort, safer road-holding. Just as important, maximum use of aluminum and magnesium alloys. Lighter weight, greater efficiency, more miles per gallon.

All these features were pioneered in mass-production by Volkswagen... proven right by millions of drivers... proven right for low-cost, trouble-free transportation. Already some of Europe's largest manufacturers have followed Volkswagen's lead. Now American companies are also adopting these advanced engineering principles. And only recently, leading American engineers awarded to Volkswagen the coveted Sperry Award for "advancing the art of transportation."

Improvements? Yes, they are being made constantly. But the basic design is maintained and so is the quality of workmanship. The happy result, an extraordinarily high resale value.

Volkswagen service is as good as the car itself. From coast to coast, 280 authorized Volkswagen service centres are equipped with genuine factory parts and factory-trained mechanics to give you efficient, inexpensive service... All this backed by a central $5-million dollar Spare Parts Depot at Toronto.

Test Hunters Like Drivers, Boys' Rescuer Urges

A Sooke logging operator who Sunday brought two young Victoria hunters out from bush country to a reunion with their grandfather said yesterday there should be some sort of a test for hunters, as there is for car drivers.

"Right now," said Ted Shaw of Sooke, "all that's necessary is to be 16 years of age and have enough money to buy a hunting licence."

"Apart from that, the applicant could be stone-deaf or color-blind, and it wouldn't matter. A man with a rifle in his hands has the same responsibility to others as a man at the wheel of a car. There should be a test of some kind."

On Sunday Dennis Clark, 18, and Bill Davidson, 16, with their grandfather, a Mr. Yates, all of Victoria, set out at 11 a.m. at Coal Creek, about 12 miles west of Sooke. They separated, with the youths arranging to meet their grandfather at 4 p.m. on the main road.

Another Sooke resident, Peter Tedneault, was driving home late in the afternoon when he was flagged down by Mr. Yates on the road. The boys had not shown up, but Mr. Yates had heard shots from the bush country.

Mr. Tedneault went to the home of Mr. Shaw, who owns an old logging road on the property. Together they drove up some distance, then fired a shot. A shot from the bushes answered, and shortly they found the boys about 1,000 feet from the logging road.

The boys, it developed, had shot a deer and dressed it out, then realized it was getting dark. Starting for the road, they realized they couldn't see well enough to continue. They fired the signal shots heard by Mr. Yates, then settled down to wait for help.

Mr. Shaw said yesterday that when the mother of one of the boys—he did not know where they lived—asked if she could do anything for him, he replied:

"Yes. Buy the boys a good compass before they hunt again."

Colwood RCMP helped search for the missing hunters, but did not learn their addresses after the youths were found.

Ferry Schedule

'Baloney'—Mayor

CPR Position Derided By Scurrah

A CPR claim that its winter ferry schedule between Victoria and Vancouver is designed to suit the greatest number of travellers brought an exclamation of disbelief yesterday from Mayor Percy Scurrah.

"What a lot of baloney!" he said.

The mayor had written to the CPR expressing Victoria's appreciation of continued ferry service, but suggesting a possible improvement in the schedule.

During the winter, the ferry will leave Vancouver at 9:15 a.m. and arrive back in Victoria at 9 p.m. If this schedule were reversed, with Victoria as a base, he suggested, passengers from Victoria could catch trains in Vancouver and Victoria-bound train passengers could catch the ferry, without long layovers.

J. N. Frame, CPR Pacific Coast vice-president, said in a reply to the mayor yesterday that the schedule was designed to suit the greatest number of travellers, and that the changes suggested by Mayor Scurrah would "only result in loss of revenue."

"I've never seen so much baloney," said the mayor.

Bennett:

'Biggest Joke Yet'

Deane Finlayson's offer to resign as leader of the Conservative party in B.C. if Premier Bennett can prove the Pacific Great Eastern Railway is making a profit is "the biggest joke yet," the premier said yesterday.

"He's going to quit as leader of what?" chuckled the premier. "What is he leading? He can't elect himself or anyone else."

Anyway, he said, the audited PGE figures were in public accounts.

Family Fund Receives $15 More

The fund to assist a destitute Indian family received an additional $15 yesterday.

Lt.-Col. Gilbert Howland, treasurer of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Service, said yesterday that the $15, from six donations, would be sent to the East Saanich Indian Reserve to assist Earl Claxton, his wife, Joanne, and their four children. Mrs. Claxton lost a purse containing $166, the family's total savings, Friday in Victoria. A total of $40 has been raised so far.

Any further donations may be sent to Mr. Howland at 2094 Brighton Avenue.

Esquimalt Endorses Plea For More Shipbuilding

Esquimalt council last night endorsed action taken last week in the absence of Reeve A. C. Wurtele when the municipality supported a plea for more shipbuilding contracts for local yards.

Art Gallery Wing Rapidly Taking Shape

Work on the new $30,000 addition to the Art Gallery of Greater Victoria is continuing at a satisfactory rate and officials hope it will be ready for a December opening. The new wing is being donated by R. H. B. Ker in commemoration of his family's 100th year in Victoria.—(Colonist photo.)

Will Cost $2,500,000

Shopping Centre Settled

15-Acre Area to Include Saanich Municipal Yard

Vancouver Island's "first major shopping centre" will be built in Saanich at a cost of more than $2,500,000.

Dominion Construction Co. Ltd. will break ground for the sprawling 15-acre development in December.

The company's vice-president, Robert G. Bentall of Vancouver, last night told Saanich council his firm accepts the municipality's offer to sell its municipal yard at Douglas and the Island Highway for $92,500 to make the development possible.

"This will be the first major shopping centre on Vancouver Island," said the company vice-president.

Mr. Bentall's statement came seconds after council rejected an application on behalf of Kelly, Douglas & Co. Ltd. seeking rezoning of property at a short distance north on the Patricia Bay Highway for shopping centre use.

Council's decision ended 18 months of negotiation by Dominion Construction and seven months of conflict between that firm and Kelly Douglas for the right to build a shopping centre on Victoria's fringe.

Ten Acres Bought

Dominion Construction has already purchased 10 acres of privately-owned land at the Douglas Street intersection.

The company needs only complete a transaction with Saanich municipality for purchase of five acres currently used as a municipal equipment yard.

First stage of the development will involve provision of parking facilities and construction of 50,000 square feet of store space.

A company spokesman said that the first stage of development will cost $1,000,000 and will accommodate 12 to 14 stores.

The second stage, due to be completed in three years, will see an additional 20,000 square feet of stores added, and the ultimate development will be 150,000 square feet.

"This development will equal Park Royal in West Vancouver," Mr. Bentall said.

"It will consist of a mall, fully landscaped with shrubs, trees and fountains and with stores on both sides of it," he went on.

35 to 40 Stores

"Eventually it will contain 35 to 40 stores,"

Council rejected the Kelly Douglas bid to build a smaller shopping centre a short distance north of the Dominion Construction site in spite of an impassioned plea by Vancouver barrister Reginald Tupper, acting for the food chain who said council should zone both areas and let "free enterprise take care of itself."

Mr. Bentall said his company's plans were not conditional upon council rejecting the Kelly Douglas bid, but he agreed with Mr. Tupper that two shopping centres in the area would not be economically sound.

Council voted four to two in favor of rejecting the Kelly Douglas bid. Councillors Joseph Casey and Amslie Worthington voting to support it.

Reeve George Chatterton said following the meeting, "I think council made the only wise decision."

"This was the only chance for Saanich to develop a large commercial centre."

Only Way, Says Bennett

Sell and Move College Told

Gordon Head Relocation Suggested

Premier Bennett last night said the only way Victoria College Council could get more money out of the B.C. government was by selling its existing buildings and property at Lansdowne Road.

The announcement was made after a brief to the cabinet was presented by Victoria College Council and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The brief said that the two bodies were agreed that the best way was for Victoria College to move out of its present location and to rebuild on its new 120 acres of land at Gordon Head.

This, however, would cost $5,500,000, against a cost of $3,100,000 needed to extend the present facilities on Lansdowne Road.

PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION

The council proposed to raise $1,500,000 over the next three years by way of public subscription, and Mr. Bennett reaffirmed that his government would match the amount raised dollar for dollar. There was also $300,000 forthcoming from Canada Council.

Lloyd MacKenzie, Victoria College councillor, who read the brief, said that this would leave the college still $2,000,000 short of its requirements for a move to Gordon Head.

He asked Premier Bennett to give an undertaking that further provincial aid would be forthcoming.

Mr. Bennett said the $1,500,000 matching grant was as far as the government could go. Later, he said that if the public subscribed $2,000,000, he would also match the extra $500,000 over a four-year period.

"The B.C. government favors that the new construction should be at Gordon Head," said the premier.

REASONABLE OFFER

The premier added that if the College Council and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce were able to arrange the sale of the present college buildings and lands at Lansdowne Road, his government would not turn down any reasonable offer for them and the money raised would be turned over to the college.

He suggested these funds could meet the extra cost needed for a switch of campus to Gordon Head.

Dr. Harry Hickman, principal of Victoria College, disagreed with the premier. He explained there would be tremendous difficulties with a divided teaching area with the new library building separated from the main group of classrooms.

"You have a complicated situation," admitted Mr. Bennett, but he suggested that the shift to Gordon Head should be made more slowly than by 1961, as the brief asked.

BUY OWN PROPERTY

"You cannot expect the provincial government to buy its own property at Lansdowne Road, and you cannot leave a $2,500,000 investment empty," said the premier, when asked if the buildings could not be used by another government department.

Members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce said they agreed with the government it would be a mistake to construct the new buildings on the old site.

MUCH BRIGHTER

Capt. Ronald Newell, chairman of the chamber university group, said that the chances of winning public support for the new university would be much brighter at Gordon Head than at Lansdowne Road.

First $25,000 Collected

While Miss Red Feather looked on in approval, Lieut. John Abbott of the city fire department turned on the first light of the Community Chest progress chart yesterday morning. Each bulb signifies another $25,000 collected along the trail to the $325,000 objective.—(Colonist photo.)

Runway Unfinished

Another Holiday Short of Flights?

Trans-Canada Air Lines is heading into heavy Thanksgiving weekend air traffic with little assurance it will be able to cope with it by resuming night operations at Patricia Bay airport.

A TCA spokesman said yesterday the department of transport has said the airport's main runway, undergoing reconstruction since Aug. 31, could be reopened Saturday if there is no rain for the remainder of the week. "We hope it is going to be Saturday, but we are not taking any night reservations until Oct. 14," the airline official said.

Night flying cannot be undertaken at the airport using secondary runways because only the main strip is fully equipped with night flying aids.

When TCA called a halt to night operations Aug. 31 it expected to resume them Sept. 18.

Succeeding delays have been caused by poor weather, which hampered construction progress.

The airline official said Thanksgiving weekend is usually the third or fourth heaviest air travel weekend in the year.

Dressmakers Burst Seams

Victoria is well on its way to gaining a reputation for the best dressed women in Canada if night school course selection is any indication.

Greater Victoria night school principal Alan Batey said yesterday enrolment in a dressmaking course which opens next week is "soaring beyond all our expectations."

No less than 280 women have enrolled in the course so far, about double what night school officials expected.

"This has always been a popular course in night schools," said Mr. Batey, "and so this year we set up seven classes for it."

"Now we have had to organize seven more."

On the other hand, said the principal, a course in English smocking is going begging and may have to be cut out entirely unless it gets seven more recruits to augment the eight already signed up.

Also suffering from insufficient enrolment is a course in handwriting analysis, but small boat pilotage and beginner's French are booming.

Boys Praised For Finding Explosives

Five boys who Sunday found 100 fuse-type blasting caps in a shed on Queenswood were commended by Saanich police yesterday.

The report was phoned in by Ricky Payne, 13, of 1846 Grandview.

The type is regarded as a greater potential threat than the electric cap, a number of which vanished recently in Saanich.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: I'm a successful business man who is asking for your advice because I wouldn't dare ask anyone else.

I've been seeing a good deal of a beautiful young lady. My first wife passed away many years ago. I'm 58 (but don't look it) and still play a good game of tennis.

The young lady is 28, a divorcee and delightful company. She claims she's bored with the young bucks and wants to settle down with an older man—(meaning me, I'm sure). My close friends tell me I'd be a fool to marry her and she's interested only in my money. They've recited chapter and verse on other successful men who've been taken by young girls.

My question is, how can a man tell if a girl is after his money, or if she's interested in him?—DADDYKINS.

Can You Pass Daddykins?

Dear Daddykins: (I wish you'd have indicated whether this is her nick-name for you or yours. It would've been a useful clue.)

There's no sure way of knowing if a girl is after a man's money. BUT—some bright men have failed to notice the obvious signs.

Have you bought her expensive gifts, paid her bills, her rent, or helped her financially in any way? If so—that love light in her eyes could be the reflection of the guilted securities she sees in yours.

Has she ever "borrowed" money from you? Has she ever hinted for something she'd like to own which is beyond HER means, but within yours?

If you can honestly answer NO to these questions, I say the gal is not interested in loot. The difference in your ages, however, leads me to guess that you can't pass the exam, Daddykins!

Dear Ann Landers: I know this sounds wacky and I wouldn't mention it to any of my friends—they'd think I was nuts.

I've been going with this fellow for almost eight months. He's a perfect gentleman in every way, but one thing about him disturbs me.

My mother noticed it too. (She's 72 and notices everything.) When I sneeze in his presence he never says "God bless you." In our family we've always said it. It seems uncouth when others omit this considerate phrase. Am I wrong? Should I mention it to him?—SENSITIVE.

An Old Superstition

Dear Sensitive: Gesundheit! could no more think of letting a sneeze go un-blessed than flying to the moon. It stems from an old superstition which was supposed to ward off the devil.

Those who don't say ge-zundheit are not necessarily uncouth. It simply was not part of their upbringing. If it disturbs you that your friend doesn't say it, tell him.

Dear Ann: I sent an engagement gift to the daughter of a friend who lives in another city. It's been seven weeks since the gift went out and I haven't had a note saying it was received.

Would it be rude to drop her a line and ask if she got it? I don't wish to embarrass her. If she's been remiss. Yet I'd like to know if I should put in an insurance claim.—L.L.L.

Dear L.L.L.: The gift could have gone astray. Write her. If she's been "remiss," it's all right to "embarrass" her after seven weeks.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experience of thousands of teenagers if you read Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in closing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

COST-FREE SKIN TREATMENT. Cold water is an excellent tonic for the complexion. It's a cooler, too, and so easy to come by!

After washing the face, splash of cold water stimulate and tone the skin. Girls and women of all ages should make it a habit.

Mature women would find a lift in an occasional cold compress. It acts as a bracer to both skin and facial muscles. In fact, it is an important step in many kinds of salon facials.

To make the most efficient use of a cold compress, here's what you do: Place a fresh washcloth in a small bowl and cover it with ice water or better still, with ice cubes. Then, thoroughly cleanse your face.

Now, bowl in hand, lie down—head flat and feet propped up on several pillows. After wringing out excess moisture from your cloth, spread it over your face and with your fingertips, firm it to your skin. Make sure the cloth snugly your jaw and "presses" any wrinkles.

As the cloth warms, cool it and apply again. Continue for fifteen minutes. At the finish, your skin's color and texture will appear greatly revitalized.

CREPEY THROAT AND CHIN

To firm and uplift sagging facial muscles and flesh, use my four-way method. It works wonders through corrective exercise, posture, skin care and make-up. Procedures are detailed in the leaflet, "Banish Crepey Throat and Chin." For your copy, write me in care of your newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin and a large self-addressed, stamped envelope.

It Takes Good Judgment To Buy Children's Clothes

It takes special skill and good judgment to buy clothes to match both children's needs and the family's budget.

In a newly-arrived booklet called "Your Clothing Dollar" one chapter is devoted to the above—buying for infants and children.

Infants require safe, clean, comfortable clothes for sleeping. As they become more active, clothing has to be loose enough for reaching, getting around (and into mischief) and trying first steps. Older children need apparel adaptable to changes in weather, outdoor play, for school and dress up.

It's practical and economical to keep a child's wardrobe small but active, says the booklet. In this way outgrown but still usable garments are kept to a minimum.

Naturally the type and number of garments will depend on climate or season, the child's health, age and activities and facilities for clothing care.

Select suitable colors and designs, suited to the age, personality, size and coloring of the child. White and light pastels are becoming to the infant, but later let him help choose the color he prefers as he begins to show a preference.

Patterned fabrics are practical because they don't show wrinkles and soil as rapidly as do plain colors. However, keep the design small and simple.

Buy the correct size. Three size ranges are generally available—infants, toddlers and children. If your child, for example, is 24 inches tall, weighs 18 pounds and has a chest measurement of 18 inches, he would likely wear size "6 months" in infants size range. The best bet is to take your child to the store with you, or take his measurements. In trousers, allow extra length for growth.

As you try clothing on your youngster, follow the following:

Expert's Opinion

More Marriages Being Patched

CALGARY (CP)—A marriage counsellor here says there is an increasing trend toward "patching up" insecure marriages, rather than rushing to the divorce courts.

The statement was made by Cenovia Adly, executive director of the Calgary family service bureau, who heads a staff of five-marriage counsellors. "Marital problems are certainly not any more common among people with low incomes than with people in the larger income brackets," Mrs. Adly said in an interview.

"A lack of sufficient income, however, or poor housing facilities can often put a strain upon a marriage."

"Charges of infidelity are one of the most common problems encountered at the bureau, she said."

"Infidelity is a symptom of a sick marriage. Had it been a good marriage, they neither would have been likely to become interested in anyone else."

Mrs. Adly said the fact that infidelity has been admitted does not save a marriage. The reason for such infidelity was the important thing.

"If a wife is unfaithful, it may be because her husband has given her very little love or affection. On the other hand she may be an irresponsible."

Two Hurt in Crash

An accident Sunday evening on the Patricia Bay Highway near Elk Lake sent an Oak Bay mother and daughter to Royal Jubilee Hospital with facial cuts.

Yesterday, condition of Mrs. Gertrude May MacBride, 46, of 2527 Beach, was reported good; that of her daughter Laurie, 6, "satisfactory."

Saanich police said their car, driven by Mrs. MacBride, heading south on the highway, went out of control while passing another car. The car went up the bank on the east side of the highway and struck a telephone pole.

The child, most seriously hurt, went through the windshield, police said.

Flood Fight Costs Man His Life

A struggle to protect his home from effects of Saturday's storm proved fatal to a 70-year-old Saanich man.

Ernest E. Wright, 4230 Gordon Head, collapsed outside his home about 3.45 p.m. at the height of the storm, while trying to divert torrents of water rolling down a slope against his home.

A Saanich fire department inhalator crew tried to revive the retired Youbou postmaster, but after 10 minutes a doctor pronounced him dead.

Barkley Blocks Suites

Residents of Barkley Street put up a united front at last night's Oak Bay council meeting and, temporarily at least, quashed a proposed rezoning bylaw to allow construction of apartment buildings.

The proposed bylaw would create an apartment zone on property on Foul Bay Road, Crescent Road and Barkley Street. However, after hearing the residents' protest last night, council decided to table the matter for further study.

The protest, in the form of a petition, stated that residents of Barkley Street had purchased their property with assurance that, under law, multiple dwelling units larger than duplex or triplex units would not be built.

It pointed out that Barkley Street is a blind road and so narrow that there would be parking problems and traffic congestion that would lead to unwarranted expenditure for road improvement.

The petition was presented by 10 Barkley Street residents at the meeting, and contained signatures of all but one of the residents and property owners of the street. That owner is in Colorado.

Storm Rated 'Emergency'

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Governor Robert E. Smylie declared a state of emergency Monday night for Boise as a gathering storm threatened to dump flood waters on the city.

East Boise was swamped by flood waters Saturday as a torrent drenched the northeast foothills.

Patricia Bay Highway

'No Need to Widen It'

Patricia Bay Highway won't be widened until traffic warrants it, Premier Bennett and Highways Minister Gagliardi indicated yesterday.

Robert Patch, president of the Saanich Peninsula Progressive Conservative Association, called the highway "half a highway" last week and claimed there would soon be many serious accidents if the government didn't widen it. "Anyone can run around the country saying something ought to be done," Mr. Gagliardi said yesterday.

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE HELPS BREAK DOWN FATS IN THE DIGESTIVE TRACT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fats... actually breaks them down. It is an established fact that when liver bile is added to fatty solids, the fats are broken down and form a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your digestive tract, liver bile helps break down fats the same way. Many of the foods you eat reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty solids. Your golden liver bile helps break down these fats... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills' exclusive formula of vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fats in your digestive tract.

So when you feel sluggish, head-achy, nervous and need a laxative, take Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today!

Worst Wind in Japan's History

Relief Goods Rushed To 1,000,000 Victims

TOKYO (UPI)—A massive relief program today rushed help by truck and boat to a million victims of the worst typhoon in Japan's recorded history. There were more than 8,000 casualties.

As the government mobilized to aid the living and to repair the damage, police reported 1,322 people dead, 1,210 missing and 5,603 injured by the 135-mph winds, floods and landslides brought by typhoon Vera Saturday night and Sunday morning.

At least three towns were wiped out. Some 350,000 homes were flooded and an estimated 970,000 people were homeless. The U.S. Tachikawa Air Force Base suffered $1,000,000 damage. One American was hurt by flying glass.

A Northwest Airlines plane loaded 17,000 pounds of relief supplies for victims in the Nagoya area of Central Honshu, the hardest-hit region. The goods were contributed by the Church World Service, Catholic Relief Services and the American Friends Service Committee.

Malayans, Irish Ask Tibet Probe

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Ireland and Malaya Monday night asked for a full-scale debate in the United Nations General Assembly on Chinese Communist oppression in Tibet.

They asked that the situation be put on the assembly's agenda for this session. Sources in the Irish delegation said they expect the assembly's steering committee to approve it, probably around midweek.

Boy, 12, Mopes, Slays

MEDFORD, Ore. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy, who may have been brooding over his family's move from Bellingham, Wash., to Medford, killed his father and sister and then committed suicide, Medford police said.

The victims—Douglas Walton, 40; his daughter, Pamela, 8; and his son, Danny, 12—were found in the Walton home by police Saturday night.

Police rushed to the Walton home after a telephone operator told them that she had received a call from a person with a youthful voice who said: "Send a police car to 1599 Grand Avenue. I have just shot my father and sister."

Walton's wife, the mother of the two children, was working at the telephone office at the time.

Police said all three were dead from gunshot wounds.

There were two guns near the boy's body.

Police said Danny had not wanted the family to move away from Bellingham.

Teen Driver Drunk, Dead

CHILLIWACK (CP)—A coroner's jury ruled Monday that the Aug. 16 death of two youths and a girl in an auto smash as nearby Sardis was due to the intoxication of the 17-year-old driver.

Medical evidence showed all four occupants of the car had been drinking prior to the accident.

Big Leap Forward Appears Backward

By MARGARET AITKEN (Special to The Colonist)

SHANGHAI—In China, factory workers celebrate everything with equal gusto—the introduction of a new invention, or the announcement of production lags.

It was while I was in Shanghai that the Communist government unexpectedly repudiated its own production figures for the first eight months of 1959.

The big leap forward this year was not being as successful as predicted. Ever greater effort was to be asked of the people for the last four months.

Curiously enough, the Chinese will use anything for an occasion of celebration and the government's admission of having been wrong called for celebrations all across the land.

Little groups of people from factories paraded the streets with drums, cymbals, pipes and firecrackers. When a modest crowd had gathered, the comrades would shout exhortations for greater production.

One evening I watched a curious scene from an apartment window in Peking. In the flood-lit courtyard below some 50 men and women sat in a circle listening to pep talks from each other. They were workers from a nearby factory and I could only assume they had failed to meet their big leap forward objectives. Certainly, there was a strange evangelical fervor about this particular celebration.

It is all part of the psychology adopted by the Communist regime in China. A constant series of campaigns are conducted to keep the people agitated.

In Peking's only foreign-language book store I was able to get an English edition of Red China's Constitution which clearly states why they think celebrations are in order:

"Citizens of the People's Republic of China enjoy freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of assembly, freedom of association, freedom of procession and freedom of demonstration. The state guarantees to citizens enjoyment of these freedoms by providing the necessary material facilities."

(Article 87 reads well, doesn't it? Only catch is that the government controls radio, press, motion pictures, education.)

One current campaign is "to surpass Britain in 15 years in iron and steel." (Slogan: "Emulate, learn from and overtake the advanced.")

Another campaign, voiced many times by former chairman Mao Tse-tung, "Let communism sweep the world with the momentum of a landslide and the power of a thunderbolt."

The slogan for this campaign was noticed in a large banner over Peking University. "Good Communist-minded students learn foreign languages to work among Westerners."

K, Ike Agree Not to Go to War

World Hails Big Two 'Peace Pact'

LONDON (AP) — With an air of relief, Europe hailed the outcome of President Eisenhower's talks with Nikita Khrushchev as "successful" today. There were general expectation there will be a summit meeting before Christmas.

Statesmen and newspapers detected historic significance in the Camp David declaration by the American and Soviet leaders that:

"... All outstanding international questions should be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means through negotiation."

To diplomats that looked like a definite agreement by the mightiest powers in the world not to go to war with each other in this H-bomb age.

Even before reading a detailed account of the top-level American-Soviet exchanges, Prime Minister Macmillan jumped in to claim them as successful. Locked in an electoral battle for power, Macmillan also claimed personal credit for blazing the trail toward East-West understandings. He told a political rally in London:

"Do you think Mr. Khrushchev and President Eisenhower would have been promoting and discussing together at Camp David last week if I had not decided to break the ice and go to Moscow?" Macmillan's challenger for power, Labor party chief Hugh Gaitskell, also hailed the Camp David exchanges—for achieving "a better atmosphere."

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told his West German political supporters he warmly welcomes the position Eisenhower took in talking

OLD-TIMERS WON'T BUDGE AS DEADLY STORM NEARS

City Challenging Own Smoke Abatement Group?

As if to challenge Victoria's new smoke abatement advisory committee, dense smoke rises from city's own rubbish-burning operation off Topaz. New committee will meet for first time Thursday, to plan its work in advising council how to deal with smoke and cinder nuisance.—(Boucher photo.)

Billions Spent On Fags

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government predicted Monday that Americans would smoke a record 465,000,000 cigarettes this year despite charges linking tobacco use to cancer. It said smokers would spend six billion dollars on cigarettes.

Girdles Earth

Third Belt Of Radiation Discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. paddle wheel satellite has found a third, and previously undetected, band of intense and deadly radiation around the earth. It could mean added danger for the first man into space.

The discovery of this new 310-mile-wide radiation band, starting about 1,000 miles from earth, was announced Monday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

At a press conference, scientists also disclosed that a two-pound camera-type device aboard the satellite had taken the first crude picture of the earth and its cloud cover from a point 19,500 miles out in space.

Thousands View Body

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Mourners formed a line six abreast and about 10 miles long yesterday to view the body of assassinated Prime Minister Solomon W. R. D. Bandaranaike lying in state at Parliament Hall.

Police said 150 persons a minute filed past the bier. Some waited in line seven hours under a scorching sun for a chance to pay last respects to Bandaranaike, who will be buried Thursday. Buddhist monks received police protection as they lined up near the steps of Parliament, to file past the body.

Tory Odds Two to Five

LONDON (Reuters) — British bookmakers Monday continued to lay odds of 2 to 5 on the Conservatives in the Oct. 8 general election. They were quoting 7 to 4 on the Labor party.

Mud-Colored Houses Greet Early Risers

HIGH RIVER, Alta. (CP) — Residents reported yesterday about 10 per cent of the houses in this community 40 miles south of Calgary were turned mud-color overnight.

A leak in a sour gas line north of the city was believed to be the cause. Hydrogen sulphide in the gas reacts with lead-based paint to cause discoloration.

Arrow points direction being taken by Hurricane Gracie, shaded area indicates huge danger area where warnings have been issued.

Ike Moves In To End Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower, "sick and tired" of dragging negotiations in the 76-day-old steel strike, yesterday summoned industry and union leaders to the White House in an effort to end "this intolerable situation."

Eisenhower personally telephoned an invitation to the opposing leaders to meet with him separately Wednesday morning. It was a sharp turnabout in Eisenhower's previous hands-off policy toward the record walkout.

The president's decision apparently was a last-ditch effort to avoid invoking the Taft-Hartley law under which the government could seek a court order ending the strike for 90 days. After that period, the union would be free to strike again.

The White House said Eisenhower would "urge both sides to resume free collective bargaining with a view to settlement of the dispute in the interests of the nation."

Fleeing Only Chance

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — Gales, high tides and crashing waves ahead of the 125-mile-per-hour peak winds of hurricane Gracie began battering the Georgia-South Carolina coast last night.

Officials, fearing a disastrous blow, rushed to complete evacuations by midnight in the Savannah to Charleston, S.C., area, the most likely target for the centre of the "extremely dangerous" storm.

The fury of the hurricane, packed in its shoreward northwest quadrant, was expected to strike inland by morning. The "eye" attended by maximum winds was less than 195 miles southeast of Charleston.

EVACUATION APPEAL

South Carolina's civil defence director Charles Culbertson appealed to residents of Charleston area beaches to evacuate.

"Complete evacuation is the only chance for survival," he said.

A 250-mile stretch of the low Carolinas and Georgia coast was threatened and under emergency hurricane warning, issued at 3 p.m. EDT. But despite the warnings, many residents refused to leave.

JUST WON'T LEAVE

At Savannah Beach, Ga., which felt 40-m.p.h. winds by early evening, Police Chief David McCutchen said "some of the old-timers just won't leave" and that he would stay too.

"It gives me an uneasy feeling, but as long as they stay I have to. They feel that everything they have is here, and if they lose their possessions, they may as well go too," McCutchen said.

West Must Remain Strong Until Peace Plan 'Foolproof'

Fat, Chunky and Short? You'll Get Married

LONDON (UPI) — To girls who want to get married: You've got a better chance if you are fat, fairly muscular and somewhat on the short side. Dr. R. W. Parnell, an Oxford University researcher, said a girl with those qualifications has a 3 to 2 chance of getting married over a girl of the lean, willowy or beanpole type.

SEOUL (UPI) — U.S. defence secretary Neil H. McElroy said yesterday the West must maintain its armed strength until formal agreements produce foolproof methods of ending world tensions. McElroy said on his arrival in Seoul on a Pacific tour that he saw nothing realistic in Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Sept. 18 proposal for total disarmament. "Whether it is a bold move or not depends on Khrushchev's and the Russian people's willingness to accept a system of inspection," he said.

Big 'Plaza' Takes Shape at Campbell River

Scooped by dredges from the bottom of Campbell River harbor, the new Yeezy Plaza is taking shape on the village waterfront. A hotel, service station and

RCAF Station, Comox

Children Swarm Over Airport

COMOX — Seven hundred children from the Comox valley swarmed over the RCAF station at Comox at the weekend while participating in the second annual Kids Day sponsored by the Courtenay Kiwanis Club.

Eleven bus loads of children from School District 71 viewed CF-100 all-weather interceptors, T-33 jet trainers and radar-equipped Neptune aircraft.

They were also shown static and flying displays of model aircraft and witnessed a fly past of CF-100s in tight formation.

In charge of the group were Kiwanis president Denys Bryan, and Kids Day committee chairman Bob Jenks, assisted by Dan Campbell.

Move Money Around Ratepayers to Urge

A proposal that industry pay taxes directly to the B.C. government with the money to be spread equally throughout the province, will head the agenda at the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association Oct. 17 in Nanaimo.

"Large industries in certain areas pay heavy taxes and give those areas better opportunity for educational and hospital facilities," president George Bonner of Cobble Hill said yesterday.

"Where does that leave areas without industry? Spreading the money equally would solve the problem."

Claude L. Harrison, former mayor of Victoria, will speak to the gathering, discussing the possibility of a transportation link between northern Vancouver Island and the mainland. Mr. Harrison recently completed an eight-day tour in Butte Inlet, north of Campbell River, to check ground for possible overland routes.

Other items on the agenda are compulsory voting, abolition of campaign funds, renewal of drivers' licences for elderly residents, telephone service and rates, and heavy truck traffic control.

The meeting will close with election of officers.

Accident Victim Home Thankful for Escape

FULFORD HARBOR — W. Y. Stewart of Beaver Point has returned home from Lady Minto Hospital, still wondering about his narrow escape from a recent car accident.

Mr. Stewart and C. J. Brewsbaugh of Salt Spring Island were driving near Ganges when their car ran over the edge of a 30-foot cliff and plunged to the rocks below. Both escaped with minor injuries, but were kept in hospital at Ganges for several days. If the tide had been in at the time of the accident, the point where the car hit would have been covered with 10 feet of water.

Empty Home Guttled In Parkville Blaze

PARKVILLE — A spectacular blaze on Parkville flats completely demolished a four or five-room unoccupied dwelling owned by M. B. Gernym, late Sunday afternoon. The fire was too far advanced when it was discovered to save the frame building. The prompt action by a crew of the Parkville volunteer fire department led by Chief William Wheeler prevented the fire from spreading to two other houses near by.

The firemen also saved a donkey engine which was standing near the burning building. Cause of the fire was not known.

Duncan Court Curtails Tar's Driving

DUNCAN — RCN rating J. M. Trick of HMCS St. Laurent at Esquimalt will only be able to drive to and from barracks for the next 60 days.

The stipulation was made in police court here yesterday by Magistrate A. C. Sutton when Trick pleaded guilty to a charge of impaired driving.

Trick was also fined $100.

COBBLE HILL — A motorcyclist who made a U-turn across a double solid line on the Malahat last month and has been in hospital since had his driver's licence suspended.

P. G. Cudlip, justice of the peace, also fined Charles W. Keay, Victoria, $25 for careless driving.

Sewer Job At Nanaimo Goes Ahead

NANAIMO — The $2,450,000 sewer project in Nanaimo will shortly enter its third stage.

Tenders have been called for construction of pumping station installations; trunk mains at Harewood and Haliburton Street; and a collection system for the south end area.

C. F. Newcombe said that a whole new system would be completed by the fall of 1961.

FARM TRUCKS

There were 277,183 farm trucks recorded in Canada in 1958, an increase of more than 41 per cent from 1951.

'An Expensive Drink' Costs $50 in Nanaimo

NANAIMO — "An expensive drink" was the comment of Acting Magistrate Harold Hine when he fined Denton Robert Allan, Nanaimo, $50 for consuming liquor in a downtown cafe.

Allan said he thought he was handed a bottle of pop when approached by a constable. The bottle from which he was drinking contained liquor.

Worked in Rain

$61,200 Substation 'Cut In' at Crofton

DUNCAN — B.C. Power Commission crews working in driving rain Sunday "cut in" the new $61,200 Crofton substation and immediately started an $18,000 project to more than double the voltage in the area.

District manager John Gardner said yesterday the voltage will be increased from 2,300 to 6,900 volts.

At the same time two existing substations in the area will be "eliminated." Work is scheduled to be completed by Oct. 31.

Mr. Gardner explained the new substation was needed, and was completed three years ahead of schedule because last winter the areas serviced by the line were "plagued with a series of power outages."

Cowichan Groups To Talk Tactics

DUNCAN — Members of a Cowichan group trying to get government approval for a new hospital here and an annex to Lake Cowichan said last night they expect to set a date for a joint meeting today or tomorrow.

They will discuss their next move on what to do since Health Minister Eric Martin stuck to a government survey which turned "thumbs down" on any hospital at the lake.

The minister also ignored a request by the group in a brief for a meeting.

Group secretary L. B. Bailey of Lake Cowichan said "We should know when we'll meet today or tomorrow. We're waiting to set a date until we find out what dates Robert Strachan has open."

The CCF opposition leader and MLA for Cowichan-Newcastle was due to arrive back on the island about midnight last night after a speaking tour in the B.C. interior.

Test Hunters Like Drivers, Boys' Rescuer Urges

A Sooke logging operator who Sunday brought two young Victoria hunters out from bush country to a reunion with their grandfather said yesterday there should be some sort of a test for hunters, as there is for car drivers.

"Right now," said Fred Shaw of Sooke, "all that's necessary is to be 16 years of age and have enough money to buy a hunting licence."

"Apart from that, the applicant could be stone-deaf or color-blind, and it wouldn't matter. A man with a rifle in his hands has the same responsibility to others as a man at the wheel of a car. There should be a test of some kind."

On Sunday Dennis Clark, 18, and Bill Davidson, 16, with their grandfather, a Mr. Yates, all of Victoria, set out at 11 a.m. at Coal Creek, about 12 miles west of Sooke. They separated, with the youths arranging to meet their grandfather at 4 p.m. on the main road.

Another Sooke resident, Peter Tedneault, was driving home late in the afternoon when he was flagged down by Mr. Yates on the road. They boys had not shown up, but Mr. Yates had heard shots from the bush country.

Mr. Tedneault went to the home of Mr. Shaw, who owns an old logging road on the property. Together they drove some distance, then fired a shot. A shot from the bushes answered, and shortly they found the boys about 1,000 feet from the logging road.

The boys, it developed, had shot a deer and dressed it out, then realized it was getting dark. Starting for the road, they realized they couldn't see well enough to continue. They fired the signal shots heard by Mr. Yates, then settled down to wait for help.

Mr. Shaw said yesterday that when the mother of one of the boys—he did not know where they lived—asked if she could do anything for him, he replied:

"Yes. Buy the boys a good compass before they hunt again."

Colwood RCMP helped search for the missing hunters, but did not learn their addresses after the youths were found.

'Baloney'—Mayor

CPR Position Derided By Scurrah

A CPR claim that its winter ferry schedule between Victoria and Vancouver is designed to suit the greatest number of travellers brought an exclamation of disbelief yesterday from Mayor Percy Scurrah.

"What a lot of baloney!" he said.

POSSIBLE IMPROVEMENT

The mayor had written to the CPR expressing Victoria's appreciation of continued ferry service, but suggesting a possible improvement in the schedule.

During the winter, the ferry will leave Vancouver at 9.15 a.m. and arrive back in Vancouver at 9 p.m. If this schedule were reversed, with Victoria as a base, he suggested, passengers from Victoria could catch trains to Vancouver and Victoria-bound train passengers could catch the ferry without long layovers.

REPLY TO MAYOR

J. N. Fraine, CPR Pacific Coast vice-president, said in a reply to the mayor yesterday that the schedule was designed to suit the greatest number of travellers, and that the changes suggested by Mayor Scurrah would "only result in loss of revenue."

"I've never seen so much baloney," said the mayor.

Bennett:

'Biggest Joke Yet'

Deane Finlayson's offer to resign as leader of the Conservative party in B.C. if Premier Bennett can prove the Pacific Great Eastern Railway is making a profit is "the biggest joke yet," the premier said yesterday.

"He's going to quit as leader of what?" chuckled the premier. "What is he leading? He can't elect himself or anyone else."

Anyway, he said, the audited PGE figures were in public accounts.

What Mr. Finlayson was doing, he said, was "putting up a camouflage to hide the enormous loss going on in the Conservative party."

Family Fund Receives $15 More

The fund to assist a destitute Indian family received an additional $15 yesterday.

Lt. Col. Gilbert Howland, treasurer of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Service, said yesterday that the $15, from six donations, would be sent to the East Saanich Indian Reserve to assist Earl Claxton, his wife, Joanne, and their four children. Mrs. Claxton lost a purse containing $166, the family's total savings, Friday in Victoria. A total of $40 has been raised so far.

Any further donations may be sent to Mr. Howland at 2094 Brighton Avenue.

Gordon Head Relocation Suggested

Premier Bennett last night said the only way Victoria College Council could get more money out of the B.C. government was by selling its existing buildings and property at Lansdowne Road.

The announcement was made after a brief to the cabinet was presented by Victoria College Council and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The brief said that the two bodies were agreed that the best way was for Victoria College to move out of its present location and to rebuild on its new 120 acres of land at Gordon Head.

This, however, would cost $5,500,000, against a cost of $3,100,000 needed to extend the present facilities on Lansdowne Road.

PUBLIC SUBSCRIPTION

The council proposed to raise $1,500,000 over the next three years by way of public subscription, and Mr. Bennett reaffirmed that his government would match the amount raised dollar for dollar. There was also $300,000 forthcoming from Canada Council.

Lloyd MacKenzie, Victoria College councillor, who read the brief, said that this would leave the college still $2,000,000 short of its requirements for a move to Gordon Head.

He asked Premier Bennett to give an undertaking that further provincial aid would be forthcoming.

Mr. Bennett said the $1,500,000 matching grant was as far as the government could go. Later, he said that if the public subscribed $2,000,000, he would also match the extra $500,000 over a four-year period.

"The B.C. government favors that the new construction should be at Gordon Head," said the premier.

REASONABLE OFFER

The premier added that if the College Council and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce were able to arrange the sale of the present college buildings and lands at Lansdowne Road, his government would not turn down any reasonable offer for them and the money raised would be turned over to the college.

He suggested these funds could meet the extra cost needed for a switch of campus to Gordon Head. Dr. Harry Hickman, principal of Victoria College, disagreed with the premier. He explained there would be tremendous difficulties with a divided teaching area with the new library building separated from the main group of classrooms.

"You have a complicated situation," admitted Mr. Bennett, but he suggested that the shift to Gordon Head should be made more slowly than by 1961, as the brief asked.

BUY OWN PROPERTY

"You cannot expect the provincial government to buy its own property at Lansdowne Road, and you cannot leave a $2,500,000 investment empty," said the premier, when asked if the buildings could not be used by another government department.

Members of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce said they agreed with the government. It would be a mistake to construct the new buildings on the old site.

MUCH BRIGHTER

Capt. Ronald Newell, chairman of the chamber university group, said that the chances of winning public support for the new university would be much brighter at Gordon Head than at Lansdowne Road.

Runway Unfinished

Another Holiday Short of Flights?

Trans-Canada Air Lines is heading into heavy Thanksgiving weekend air traffic with little assurance it will be able to cope with it by resuming night operations at Patricia Bay airport.

A TCA spokesman said yesterday the department of transport has said the airport's main runway, undergoing reconstruction since Aug. 31, could be reopened Saturday if there is no rain for the remainder of the week. "We hope it is going to be Saturday, but we are not taking any night reservations until Oct. 14," the airline official said.

Night flying cannot be undertaken at the airport using secondary runways because only the main strip is fully equipped with night flying aids.

When TCA called a halt to operations Aug. 31 it expected to resume them Sept. 18.

Succeeding delays have been caused by poor weather, which hampered construction progress. The airline official said Thanksgiving weekend is usually the third or fourth heaviest air travel weekend in the year.

Dressmakers Burst Seams

Victoria is well on its way to gaining a reputation for the best dressed women in Canada if night school course selection is any indication.

Greater Victoria night school principal Alan Batey said yesterday evening in a dressmaking course which opens next week is "soaring beyond all our expectations."

No less than 280 women have enrolled in the course so far, about double what night school officials expected.

"This has always been a popular course in night schools," said Mr. Batey, "and so this year we set up seven classes for it."

"Now we have had to organize seven more."

On the other hand, said the principal, a course in English smocking is going begging and may have to be cut out entirely unless it gets seven more recruits to augment the eight already signed up.

Also suffering from insufficient enrolment is a course in handwriting analysis, but small boat pilotage and beginner's French are booming.

Caravan Gets Big Hello

PORT ALBERNI—A warm reception to the west coast was given members of a good-will caravan which travelled over the new Tofino-Alberni highway on Sunday. Welcomed at an open-air coffee bar set up by Ucluelet Chamber of Commerce, the 200-odd visitors paused briefly at the junction of the Alberni section with the Ucluelet-Tofino road, then drove the few remaining miles to be greeted by a spectacular array of sun-washed breakers at Long Beach.

Perfect weather, a fine feast of fresh crab in the shell and general jubilation over the highway construction which has alleviated the isolation of the west coast contributed to success of the visit. The trip was organized by Alberni Board of Trade, Port Alberni Chamber of Commerce and councils of the twin cities. It was planned as a semi-official event to mark the opening of the road to public travel.

Escorted by an RCMP highway patrol vehicle, the 66-car cavalcade rolled out of Alberni Athletic Hall parking lot on the stroke of 9 a.m. The journey was interrupted by several brief halts where cameras, still and movie, recorded views of mountains, lakes and streams.

First pause was at the 1,600-foot elevation over Taylor Arm of Sproat Lake, from where the caravan continued its serpentine way to the Taylor River.

Close-up views of magnificent mountain peaks, rock bluffs and untouched timber highlighted the trip. Members of the group used superlatives as the caravan was led along a route of waterfall, rapids, pool and canyon of the Kennedy River to the scenic lake of the same name.

Comments on condition of the road surface were favorable, and many drivers expressed surprise after having heard adverse criticism. The stretch along Kennedy River of government-constructed road was excellent, while that still under construction by the government contractors was fair.

At the beach, members of the party used their ingenuity to extract crabmeat from the shells as they ranged themselves in the sunshine over huge piles of driftwood. Greetings from the Albernis were conveyed by Chamber of Commerce president Robert Adderley, who thanked Ucluelet and Tofino groups for their hospitality.

Both Alberni and Port Alberni councils were well represented on the trip. Port Alberni's Acting Mayor Fred Weaver and Aldermen Norman Odgers, Robert Dalton, William Goddard, Jack Perry and Doug Mallory turned out in force, while Mayor Jack Luckhurst and several of his council members took part in the event.

Wallace Baikie of Campbell River represented the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

Girl Jumps from Car To End Wild Chase

PARKSVILLE—A wild chase along the Island Highway that started near Fanny Bay when police took after a teenage driver, ended south of here yesterday when the youthful driver's female companion fell or jumped from the speeding car.

The girl received painful cuts and bruises and was taken to Nanaimo General Hospital by Qualicum Beach ambulance.

Police said the young driver was clocked at an excessive speed in a radar-controlled area near Fanny Bay.

The youth refused to stop for the RCMP and went through a road block which had been set up at Qualicum Bay. Police said the car was travelling between 80 and 90 miles an hour on the road to Parksville.

PORT ALBERNI—One day in jail was ordered by Magistrate W. E. MacLeod when Stanley Swyrda pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of making fraudulent statements to obtain social assistance.

The accused elected trial before the magistrate. He explained to the court that he had worked only three months in the past two years and admitted that he had neglected to declare a workmen's compensation cheque when applying for welfare assistance last May 4.

In addition to the one-day sentence, Swyrda was fined $15 and ordered to make restitution.

City Clerk H. D. Thain stated that there was no desire to obtain more than the "very minimum penalty" in four similar charges for which the city is laying information.

CHEMAMOUNUS—Officers of the newly organized Chemainus Curling Club are: president, Cpl. M. M. Low, vice-president, P. W. McKenzie, secretary, treasurer B. Shaw.

It is proposed to form a mixed Chemainus-Crofton league, which will curl at the Duncan rink.

President M. M. Low was a member of the RCMP team that won the provincial and western finals last year, but lost out on the Dominion title.

NANAIMO—President of Nanaimo and District Chess Club is Fred Schulz. He was elected at the annual meeting for the fourth successive year.

Miss Eleanor Marley of the unemployment commission office, Vancouver, will be guest speaker at the meeting where preliminary plans will be made to avoid unemployment problems.

LAKE COWICHAN—M. F. Wise, head of the village commission here, will address the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce tonight on this village's public works program.

The first meeting here this year will be in the Elks' Hall, starting at 8 p.m. Chairman will be chamber vice-president John Gardner.

NANAIMO—Ronald MacIsaac was installed grand knight of the Knights of Columbus here last night. He was installed by deputy governor W. J. Carr.

K, Ike Agree Not to Go to War

World Hails Big Two 'Peace Pact'

LONDON (AP) — With an air of relief, Europe hailed the outcome of President Eisenhower's talks with Nikita Khrushchev as "successful" today. There were general expectations there will be a summit meeting before Christmas. (See stories on Page 3.)

Statesmen and newspapers detected historic significance in the Camp David declaration by the American and Soviet leaders that:

"... All outstanding international questions should be settled not by the application of force but by peaceful means through negotiation."

To diplomats, that looked like a definite agreement by the mightiest powers in the world not to go to war with each other in this H-bomb age.

Even before reading a detailed account of the top-level American-Soviet exchanges, Prime Minister Macmillan jumped in to claim them as successful. Locked in an electoral battle for power, Macmillan also claimed personal credit for blazing the trail toward East-West understandings. He told a political rally in London:

"Do you think Mr. Khrushchev and President Eisenhower would have been promoting and discussing together at Camp David last week if I had not decided to break the ice and go to Moscow?" Macmillan's challenger for power, Labor party chief Hugh Gaitskill, also hailed the Camp David exchanges—for achieving "a better atmosphere."

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told his West German political supporters he warmly welcomes the position Eisenhower took in talking

Mr. K Pledges China 'Eternal Friendship'

TOKYO (UPI) — Premier Khrushchev pledged Russia's "eternal friendship" to China yesterday while the Communists marked the 10th anniversary of their regime by threatening to "liberate" Formosa from U.S. "occupation."

SEOUL (UPI) — U.S. defence secretary Neil H. McElroy said yesterday the West must maintain its armed strength until formal agreements produce foolproof methods of ending world tensions. McElroy said on his arrival in Seoul on a Pacific tour that he saw nothing realistic in Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's Sept. 18 proposal for total disarmament. "Whether it is a bold move or not depends on Khrushchev's and the Russian people's willingness to accept a system of inspection," he said.

Third Belt Of Radiation Discovered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. paddle wheel satellite has found a third, and previously undetected, band of intense and deadly radiation around the earth. It could mean added danger for the first man into space.

The discovery of this new 310-mile-wide radiation band, starting about 1,000 miles from earth, was announced Monday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

At a press conference, scientists also disclosed that a two-pound camera-type device aboard the satellite had taken the first crude picture of the earth and its cloud cover from a point 19,500 miles out in space.

Thousands View Body

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Mourners formed a line six abreast and about 10 miles long yesterday to view the body of assassinated Prime Minister Solomon W. R. D. Bandaranaike lying in state at Parliament Hall.

Police said 150 persons a minute filed past the bier. Some waited in line seven hours under a scorching sun for a chance to pay last respects to Bandaranaike, who will be buried Thursday.

Buddhist monks received police protection as they lined up near the steps of Parliament to file past the body.

Arrow points direction being taken by Hurricane Gracie, shaded area indicates huge danger area where warnings have been issued.

Ike Moves In To End Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower, "sick and tired" of dragging negotiations in the 76-day-old steel strike, yesterday summoned industry and union leaders to the White House in an effort to end "this intolerable situation."

Eisenhower personally telephoned an invitation to the opposing leaders to meet with him separately Wednesday morning. It was a sharp turnabout in Eisenhower's previous hands-off policy toward the record walkout.

The president's decision apparently was a last-ditch effort to avoid invoking the Taft-Hartley law under which the government could seek a court order ending the strike for 80 days. After that period, the union would be free to strike again. The White House said Eisenhower would "urge both sides to resume free collective bargaining with a view to settlement of the dispute in the interests of the nation."

Fleeing Only Chance

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) —Gales, high tides and crashing waves ahead of the 125-mile-per-hour peak winds of Hurricane Gracie began battering the Georgia-South Carolina coast last night.

Officials, fearing a disastrous blow, rushed to complete evacuations by midnight in the Savannah to Charleston, S.C., area, the most likely target for the centre of the "extremely dangerous" storm.

The fury of the hurricane, packed in its shoreward north-west quadrant, was expected to strike inland by morning. The "eye" attended by maximum winds was less than 195 miles southeast of Charleston.

EVACUATION APPEAL

South Carolina's civil defence director Charles Culbertson appealed to residents of Charleston area beaches to evacuate.

"Complete evacuation is the only chance for survival," he said.

A 250-mile stretch of the low Carolinas and Georgia coast was threatened and under emergency hurricane warning, issued at 3 p.m. EDT. But despite the warnings, many residents refused to leave.

JUST WON'T LEAVE

At Savannah Beach, Ga., which felt 40-m.p.h. winds by early evening, Police Chief David McCutchen said "some of the old-timers just won't leave" and that he would stay too.

"It gives me an uneasy feeling, but as long as they stay I have to. They feel that everything they have is here, and if they lose their possessions, they may as well go too," McCutchen said.
